Cash Payment of Bonus Wins in Test in House

FINAL DECISION ON PATMAN BILL IS SLATED TODAY

Solons Vote To Issue $2,000,000,000 in New Money Over Protests of Representative Vinson and Supporters.

KENTUCKIAN'S BILL LOSES BY 11 VOTES

Motion To Be Made Today To Send Approved Measure Back to Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(UP)—A howling, impatient house throttled all attempt at debate tonight and voted to pay the soldier bonus by starting the printing press to whirling out $2,000,000,000 in currency.

It substituted the Patman bonus bill, calling for outright inflation, for the Vinson measure, which would leave it to the treasury to decide how to raise the $2,000,000,000.

Next the house formally will pass the Patman bill and send it to the senate for action. If it is approved there, it goes to the White House for signature. President Roosevelt is ready to sign it on the grounds that $2,000,000,000 of printing press money would undermine government credit.

Every suggestion of compromise was brushed aside by the house. Representative Sam McReynolds, democrat, Tennessee, went down under booing and howling when he tried to persuade the house to accept a measure that would pay the veterans in bonds, with an allowance of $178 cash for each ex-soldier immediately.

The hardest fight will come in the senate which in recent history already has tossed down or rejected the house's bonus bill.

The vote to substitute the Patman bill for the Vinson bill was 183 to 142, with members standing to be counted. A teller vote was ordered immediately, giving a result of 180 to 157. A roll call vote was then ordered.

The action came after 11 hours of debate. The Vinson bill was the order of business.

Representative Wright Patman, democrat, Texas, offered his bill as a substitute for the Vinson measure, and on his heels came other congressmen, each with his private plan for discharging the government's obligations to World War veterans.

McReynolds' bill was the administration's attempt to compromise the issue and avoid the possibility of endangering its credit by resorting to fiat money to pay the obligation to the veterans, who under strict interpretation of law, are not entitled to collect the bonus until 1945.

But even with those three votes, the last at 202 to 191 ballot, a final decision was left over until tomorrow. Then, the house can reconsider its previous action and change its mind if it so desires.

There was no question in the minds of both republican and democratic

Talmadge Appointees To Scores of Offices Confirmed by Senate

New Members of Board of Regents and Board of Control Included in List.

Governor Talmadge Thursday announced the appointment of several score public officials and board members, including three new members of the board of regents of the university system and two new members of the board of control of eleemosynary institutions.

The appointments were immediately confirmed by the state senate as required by law.

The new members of the board of regents, who will take office on July 1, are John Monaghan, of Pelham, who succeeds William J. Vereen, of Moultrie; Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville, who succeeds W. Elliott Dunwoody, of Macon, and the Rev. R. J. Minney, of Sandersville, who succeeds Marion Allen, of Milledgeville. They also were given six-year terms. Judge J. E. D. Shipp, of Americus, was reappointed for a six-year term.

In addition the governor sent to the senate for confirmation the names of Clark Howell Jr., of Atlanta, and Paul Burton, of Monroe, for the board of regents. They have been serving under ad interim appointments. Chairman Marion Smith, of the board of regents, serves at the pleasure of the governor.

Road Board Confirmed. Others who have been serving on the board of control under ad interim appointments also were confirmed by the senate. These include Mrs. Ada Healey, of Atlanta; Dr. J. P. Swann, of Cairo, and Walter J. Pitner, of Athens.

In addition the governor sent to the senate and obtained confirmation of the appointments to the highway board which also has been serving under ad interim appointment. The members are Chairman W. Eugene Wilburn, of Oglethorpe, Commissioner John A. Heck, of Marietta, and Commissioner Max L. McRae, of McRae.

The governor also reappointed Miss Ella Mae Thornton, of Atlanta, as state librarian.

Included in the appointments sent to the senate was that of R. S. Elrod, of Atlanta, to be a member of the industrial relations council, and of S. D. Truitt, of Fulton county farm agent, and L. A. Whipple, of Cochran, were named to the board of education for four-year terms.

The three new appointments to the board of regents and two to the board of control give Governor Talmadge a majority on both boards.

Of the new members of the regents, Mr. Monaghan is a highway contractor who attended the University of Georgia in the days when Talmadge was a student there. The other two members are bankers. Mr. Bell having been an outstanding financial figure of Baldwin county for many years and Mr. Milam having the same background in Bartow county. Mr. Milam

U. S. INDICTS SEVEN AS PWA GRAFTERS ON TEXAS PROJECT

Ickes Charges Group of Prominent Businessmen, Experts Entered Conspiracy To Defraud.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Officials tonight determined to seek a speedy trial for seven men indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government in a $4,583,000 public works irrigation project in Texas.

In the first indictments ever returned under a PWA case two former PWA engineers, two Texas businessmen and three prominent California lumbermen were named today by a special district of Columbia grand jury which inspected evidence presented by investigators for Secretary Ickes.

Among the PWA grant and loan were held up pending the inquiry. The indictment accuses the seven of plotting to make $400,000 profit by requiring the use of 250 miles of redwood pipe in the irrigation of 15,000 acres of land in the Willacy county district north of Brownsville, Texas.

Even as John W. Ebelly, assistant United States attorney, set April 5 as the date for arraignment, counsel for one of the accused predicted the ultimate vindication of his client.

Representing Major Charles Oberger, former engineer examiner for irrigation projects in the Washington PWA office, Attorney Milton King said:

"Every step Major Oberger took was intended solely to promote and expedite this project. His actions have been completely misinterpreted by the espionage system of the interior department."

Case a Warning. The others indicted were Perry A. Welby, of Austin, Texas, former engineer with the PWA; J. P. McElwain, of Fort Worth, Texas; William A. Harding, of Raymondville, Texas, a director of the Willacy irrigation district; Frank P. McElwain, of Corsicana, Texas, a contractor and banker; Leonard C. Hammond, vice president of the Hammond Lumber Company, San Francisco; Harry Cole, vice president of the Hammond and Little River Redwood Co., Ltd., a Hammond subsidiary, and president of four-year terms.

Arkwright Cannot Say 'No', So Moro Gonzalez Gets Him

PRESTON S. ARKWRIGHT—"... Like a Spartan, he tossed his features into the hands of lampoonery... and showed a gift for exaggeration in his self-analysis. ... He points out where nature committed her gravest errors. ... A feast for a caricaturist—Senator Arkwright!" writes Gonzalez.

He's a feast for a caricaturist's pencil. Arkwright—utilities tycoon—faces his sketcher. All the while with forthright frankness he unburies himself of pet philosophies. Not only is he "good pickins" but a surprising individual. ... With due regard he points out where nature, in his own face, committed the gravest errors. ... He cheerfully points out

UPTURN REPORTED IN EMPLOYMENT TALOR ARRESTED IN RESORT DEATH

Weekly Pay Roll Increase of $10,800,000 Is Also Shown.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins today reported an employment increase of 200,000 workers from January to February and a $10,800,000 weekly gain in pay rolls.

Especially encouraging, she reported, was a 4.8 per cent rise in employment in durable goods industries with an 11.6 per cent gain in pay rolls.

The gain for durable industries outstripped that for consumers' goods which showed only a 2 per cent rise in employment and a 4.4 gain in pay rolls.

Factory employment and pay rolls expanded more than seasonal. Employment gained 3.2 per cent, exceeding gains for any of the last 16 years except 1934. The pay roll gain of 7.8 per cent was larger than in any February since 1919, except for 1934.

Factory pay rolls reached an index of 69.1, higher than in any month since June, 1931. Major industries making substantial gains were automobile, steel works, machine tools, foundries and machine shops, clothing and boot and shoes.

Several industries closely allied to building construction reported gains. Reports from more than 10,000 workers in the textile group where 52,000 workers were added. Transportation industries added 50,000, and an estimated 24,000 were returned to employment in the iron and steel industry.

In non-manufacturing industries the most pronounced gains were in anthracite mining which increased 2.5 per cent in employment and 11.9 per cent in pay rolls. Bituminous mining reported increases of 1.4 per cent in workers and 10.9 in pay rolls.

Reich Defiantly Spurns Franco-British Protest Amid War Warnings

RICHBERG NAMED NRA BOARD HEAD; 2 MEMBERS ADDED

President Throws Full Power Behind Effort To Extend Control and Labor Joins Him.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Donald R. Richberg, already a man of many official titles, was named by President Roosevelt today to head a reorganized NRA board as part of a vigorous drive—joined in by organized labor—to assure continuance of the recovery administration.

The president, throwing his full weight behind the NRA extension campaign, increased the group which governs the Blue Eagle agency from five to seven. One of the new members is Philip Murray, labor leader; the other William P. Witherow, Pittsburgh industrialist.

S. Clay Williams, president chairman, and A. D. Whiteside, board member, and New York businessman, plan to retire almost at once.

Immediate speculation arose as to whether the expanded board under Richberg would be able to function more harmoniously than did the former group under Williams, and how the complete membership would divide the capital-labor questions.

It was said on unquestioned authority, however, that the newest deal for NRA was made with the full cognizance of the American Federation of Labor, despite its recent violent attacks on Richberg. The federation, it was said, was prepared to support the president to the fullest.

But while this single dove of peace winged over the somewhat ragged Blue Eagle, there were unmistakable signs of trouble clouds in congregation.

In fact, the lambasting which NRA has received recently at senate hands apparently figured in the swift White House action to reorganize the board.

WAR PROFITS BAN PLAN IS DRAFTED

Senate Body Expected To O. K. Bill Limiting Incomes to $10,000.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Approval of the essentials of a drastic plan to take the profits out of war was given today by the senate military committee, while, in other capitals, officials listened for any war rumblings from Europe.

The senate committee plan, drafted by John T. Flynn, bristled-mannered New York economist and magazine writer, would limit personal incomes in wartime to $10,000 and would take by taxation virtually all corporation profits.

Although interest in the rapidly shifting European crisis continues, the senate committee apparently determined to await a crystallization abroad before making any moves. Denials issued from diplomatic chiefs that a vote of protest had been drafted against Adolf Hitler's violation of the German-American peace treaty.

FIVE-MILL LIMIT ON INTANGIBLES ALSO GIVEN OKAY

Both Houses Will Receive Proposal for Constitutional Amendment Today With Passage Confidently Expected.

AD VALOREM LEVY FOR STATE BANNED

System, If Approved by Voters, Will Reduce Taxes on Fulton Real Estate Fifty Per Cent.

By L. A. FARRELL.

A constitutional amendment, providing for a 15-mill overall limit on ad valorem taxes, with the state ad valorem levy abolished entirely, and a five-mill limit on intangible properties, is to be approved today by the general assembly unless the plans of leaders, united behind the combined amendment, are turned down by the house and senate.

The new amendment, providing ad valorem tax relief as well as a limit on intangibles, was approved Thursday by a senate and house conference committee and both Senate President Charles D. Redwine and Speaker of the House E. D. Rivers appeared confident Thursday night it would be given the necessary two-thirds majority of both houses today.

The amendment was approved by the conference committee after a long session with Governor Talmadge and formal approval of the chief executive, who has been seeking a 10-mill limitation, is certain.

Under the amendment there would be no state ad valorem tax and the commonwealth would receive 20 per cent of the taxes collected on intangibles. The cities would receive five mills on ad valorem taxes and 40 per cent, or two mills, on the intangible value. The counties would receive five mills of the ad valorem and five mills of the intangible, in addition to the remaining 40 per cent of the yield from intangibles.

As the plan worked out the cities will have a 15-mill ad valorem limit and the counties will have a 10-mill ad valorem limit because the counties will not receive any of the ad valorem taxes collected for city purposes.

Result in Fulton. In Fulton county the plan will cut a city taxpayer's payments from 30 mills to 15 and a county taxpayer's payments from 22 to 10.

Residents of Atlanta now pay 15 mills city tax which will be cut to 5 mills. They pay 14 mills to the county for state and county taxes which will be cut to 5 for the county and the state eliminated. They then will pay the 5 mills for schools.

Residents of the county pay the 14 mills now for state and county purposes. The state will be eliminated and the county reduced to 5 mills.

Atlanta City Court Abolished by Law

The city court of Atlanta was abolished Thursday and a new division added to Fulton superior court when Governor Talmadge signed a measure carrying out those provisions. The measure was sponsored by the Fulton county delegation in the house and by Senator G. Everett Tamm in the senate.

It is understood Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, a former governor, who has been serving on the city court bench for a number of years, is to be appointed superior judge to preside over the new division of the higher court.

Mrs. Hauptmann Searches Detroit On Tip That Lindy Baby Is There

DETROIT, March 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann began a search through police and welfare home records today in an effort to corroborate an unsigned letter which declared Bruno Richard Hauptmann was not guilty of the kidnapping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., and described a "living Lindbergh baby" in Detroit.

The letter described in detail the "plot" and listed the kidnapers. It also stated that the body identified by Colonel Lindbergh as that of his son, had been exhumed from a Bronx cemetery, clothed in the Lindbergh baby's clothing and left near Hopewell "to throw a scare into Lindy, who was known to have marked the ransom money."

New Jersey officials who examined the letter, received by a New York newspaperman who covered the Hauptmann trial, said they were inclined to discount it. "Further," one official said, "there is no doubt the body found in New Jersey is that of the Lindbergh baby. I witnessed the identification myself."

At Trenton, N. J., Frederick A. Pope, associate counsel for Hauptmann, said he recently received a letter from Detroit which contained "information" about the kidnapping, and which he regarded as "highly important," because he felt it might support Hauptmann's declaration of innocence. Mrs. Hauptmann came to Detroit by plane Wednesday to start a tour of 13 cities to raise funds for her husband's appeal from the death sentence. Her first meeting will be held Sunday night, and in the intervening time she said she planned to conduct a private investigation.

Defense counsel will appear before the court next Thursday to ask that a day be fixed for hearing the appeal from Hauptmann's conviction of the Lindbergh baby killing. Ordinarily, the case would be heard at the next term, which opens May 21.

Pope said the court might decide against permitting the case to go over to the October term, and may fix a date between terms, he said the defense attorneys would hold a conference next week, probably in New York, to discuss the matter.

MOB RUMORS DELAY KENTUCKIAN'S TRIAL
WHITESBURG, Ky., March 21.—(AP)—Rumors of mob violence today caused the examining trial of Denver Tolliver, 25, mountaineer, accused of slaying Clyde Quillen, 19, Boy Scout, to be postponed until next week.

County Judge Sandy Adams, remarking "it didn't look so good" for the safety of Tolliver, said there had been rumors the prisoner might be taken from the officers if he were brought here from Harlan.

HONOLULU HONORS FOR PICTURE WON BY ATLANTA ARTIST

A painting by Ariel Stevenson McMillin, formerly of Atlanta, won a place in the seventh annual exhibition of Honolulu artists which is now being held at the Honolulu Academy of Arts in the Hawaiian Islands. The annual Honolulu exhibition is considered by experts to be one of the most outstanding art events in the world, as Honolulu is a gathering place for celebrated painters and sculptors from Europe, the United States, Tahiti and the Orient. "Torso," by Agnes Larson, noted sculptor, of Honolulu and Moscow, Russia, won the grand prize at the current show, with "Kauai Homesteads," by Baroness Helen Zor Helle Isenborg, receiving the medal for oil painting. The picture selected of Mrs. McMil-

lin's was "Little Home in Hilo," a work which she made recently on a tour of the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. McMillin is best known for her canvases made in the West Indies and in old Mexico. A group of these have been privately shown in New York and Atlanta, and have attracted considerable attention. Several of her works have been purchased by art connoisseurs. Mrs. McMillin is a pupil of Howard

Chadwick, of the Honolulu Academy of Arts, and of Edith Roddy, famous landscape painter, of New York. She is the wife of Captain Douglas McMillin, of Chattanooga, and a sister of Captain C. W. Stevenson, assistant to the president of Riverside Military Academy; Paul Stevenson, local newspaper writer, and Mrs. Rosemary Stevenson Calef, of 41 Montgomery Ferry drive.

STATUS EXPLAINED OF SCHOOL FUNDS

Representative Sutton,
Governor, Auditor and Superintendent Make Statements.

Governor Talmadge's explanation of the delay in the distribution of funds to the state schools, discussed in an editorial in Thursday's Constitution, the correctness of which drew a challenge from Representative C. E. Sutton, of Wilkes county, was reaffirmed Thursday in statements issued by the governor, Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, and State Auditor Tom Wisdom.

The editorial attacked by Representative Sutton was based upon the statement, contained in the address of the governor, Wednesday before the general assembly in which he explained the delay was caused by the system of audit employed.

The governor was asked for an expression concerning it. He said: "I have nothing further to say than the statement I made publicly yesterday in my address before the general assembly. I repeat that the school funds of the state, county and school districts alike, are not under a uniform system of state audit. Whatever delay there has been in the payment of school teachers has been due to the fact I have been endeavoring to get the exact basis for a fair allocation of the funds at my disposal. As soon as I get this information I will send out the checks."

State Auditor's Statement.
State Auditor Tom Wisdom on being seen, said:

"The Constitution is correct in the statement that there is no uniform system of state auditing applying to all schools in the state, county and school districts alike.

"It is true we are directed by law to audit the county school systems and this we do. This information is of record at any time.

"This covers, however, only a part of the money paid by the taxpayers for the schools. There are 1,430 independent county school districts that are supported by tax money and yet the state auditor has never been able to audit these districts as we are directed to do with the county systems.

"Naturally it is impossible to know the exact status of school funds of the state unless we know to the penny just what the school districts, as well as the county schools, are doing.

"I regret that this session of the general assembly has not seen fit to authorize me to audit the school districts as well as the county systems. But in its wisdom it has made an increase in my allowance which will enable me to at least make a start on the school district audit."

Says Last Report Just In.
State School Superintendent M. D. Collins on being seen, said:

"The governor has at last been supplied with the last report covering the whole state. The last report went to the governor yesterday after his address before the general assembly.

"The amount of unpaid and past due appropriations to all school systems is $2,756,183.12. The state department of education has all along had these figures showing amount due by the state to every school system. The amount designated for schools under the diversion bill is $1,520,300.15.

"Appropriations are made to school systems on basis of number of school children between the ages of six and 18, inclusive, according to school census.

"All county school systems but four have uniform system of bookkeeping,

Loose Matches Ignite, Burn Carrier's Clothing

E. A. Lowe, public relations director of the Georgia emergency relief administration, is in the market for a cigarette lighter and a new suit of clothes. He likewise has decided it is inadvisable to carry loose matches in his coat pocket.

Mr. Lowe was returning to his home on a motor bus Wednesday night when he smelled burning clothing. At the same instant he experienced a very painful sensation. Hurried investigation revealed that matches in his coat pocket had become ignited. He succeeded in extinguishing the fire but not before his coat and trousers had been burned beyond repair.

and said books are audited by the state department of audit.

Statement of Sutton.
The communication from Representative Sutton follows:

Editor Constitution: In an editorial in your issue of March 17, headed "The Teachers Pay Delay," and in a like editorial in your issue of March 21, headed "The Teachers Back Pay," you make the direct issue that the delay in forwarding the part of the $2,000,000 fund diverted from the Highway Department by the general assembly has been caused by the system of bookkeeping in the counties of this state. I rise in defense of the counties of Georgia and to challenge the correctness of your statements.

The Department of Education did not require a report from a single county in Georgia before disbursing these school funds. It is the information in its records, since the fund was diverted to pay the amounts due on back appropriations to the counties, and these payments were to be made on the basis of common school apportionment, which were the basis of the apportionment of the fund.

The state auditor approved the amounts due each county in this state on February 25. The State Department of Education has been ready to mail the checks since February 25, which means payment only of the signing of the warrant. These facts you can ascertain from the departmental records.

The amount of the fund was sent out under the executive direction of the executive department on February 27. I might further state that you blame the delay on the counties and quote your records, and you say: "The teachers of the state are now paying the penalty for this condition." Do you not know that all County Boards of Education have a uniform system of accounting approved by the state auditor and State Department of Education, and that their accounts are systematically audited by the state? In the interests of fair play make a correction.

C. E. SUTTON,
Representative from Wilkes County.

Hoover May Address Georgia Peace Officers

Enemy No. 1 of America's public enemies, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the United States department of justice, will be invited to appear as one of the principal speakers at the convention of the Georgia County and Peace Officers' Association, to be held in Atlanta May 9, 10 and 11. J. Gordon Hardy, Fulton county deputy sheriff and chairman of the convention committee, announced Thursday afternoon.

Decision to invite the man who is heading the government's war on crime to come to Atlanta to discuss the crime situation was made at a luncheon meeting of the committee Thursday noon at the Hotel Ansley by Hardy.

The Georgia delegation in congress will be requested to exert all influences to get Hoover to accept the invitation, Hardy said.

Those who attended the meeting included Sheriff A. B. Brown, of Hart county; J. C. Sample, of Chatham county; Jake Hall, of DeKalb county; M. G. Whittle, of Richmond county; Chief of Police Ben Watkins, of Macon, the president of the association; Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant, of Atlanta; Chief of Police W. O. Parker, of DeKalb county, and John Edmondson, of the Coca-Cola Company, who is assisting in the arrangements for a large barbecue which will be one of the features of the three-day convention.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES
by Sally Saver

The one-time "poor little shrimp" need shrink no longer! It has become the life of the party. Dressed in the newest super-time fashion for sea foods—enfolded in a smooth and succulent sauce of mild cheese—shrimp special is a sensation at any gathering of connoisseurs.

The delicate flavor of shrimp seems to react with marvelous willingness to the touch of just-right cheese sauce—and the result is a dish of unsurpassed goodness.

The goodness of fish and cheese, in combination, is discovered by many an alert hostess in the days before Easter—and the lesson is put to good effect many times later. A perfectly balanced dietetic team, fish and cheese are also magic tempters of listless appetites in many varied dishes.

Shrimp Special.
1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1-2 green pepper, chopped, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup whole shrimps, 1 pint tomato, chopped, 1-2 lb. creamed cheese, 1 small can evaporated milk, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, buttered bread crumbs.

Cook onion and green pepper in butter 5 minutes. Add shrimps and tomato and cook very slowly until shrimps are hot. Place a serving of shrimps in each individual seafood shell. Melt the cheese slowly in the top of a double boiler. Gradually add the evaporated milk, stirring well after each addition. Season to taste with salt, pepper and Worcestershire.

Cover each serving of shrimps with a generous amount of this sauce. Garnish each shell with a border of crumbs; bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

Cheese and Crab Delight.
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1-4 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup cooked, strained tomatoes, 1-2 lb. American cheese, grated, 1 egg, 3-4 cup hot milk, 1 cup crabmeat, 1 cup cooked mushrooms.

Cook green pepper in butter 5 minutes. Blend in flour, add seasonings and tomatoes, and cook until thickened. Add cheese, stir a moment, then add beaten egg and cook a few minutes. Add hot milk, crabmeat and mushrooms; blend thoroughly. Serve in patty shells.

Mother Fries Them in a Pan.
Little children often have wisdom beyond their years and like the poetic beings that they are, sing of their appreciation. Many young epicures have sung in celebration of fried fish: "Little fishes in the brook Papa caught them with a hook Mama fried them in a pan Baby ate them like a man."

This little verse reminds us that fish is an enjoyable and proper food for children and that frying is an interesting and digestible method of cooking fish when it is done in the right way.

The object of frying is not to use the fish as a fat blotter—to absorb the grease but to coat the fish to keep in its essential flavor and nutrients.

Directions for Frying.
Dry the fish carefully after cleaning. Season liberally with salt and sprinkle with pepper. Immerse the fish in lard, butter or oil before its smoking point, hot enough to seal in the juices of the fish and not hot enough to burn the delicate skin and flesh. If placed in the well-heated lard, butter or oil, it absorbs just enough of the fat and the flesh retains its delicacy. Thus the digestion is not overburdened. The juices of the digestive system can get at flesh uncoated with too much fatty substance.

Always have sufficient lard, butter or oil to fry all the fish. Never add a lump of cold fat to the heated mass. The addition of cold fat checks the cooking of fish, prolongs the process,

RETIRED POLICEMAN, CALEB P. HILL, PASSES

Mr. Hill is survived by his wife, a son, C. P. Hill Jr., who is a patrolman alive a sister, Mrs. J. A. Barnett, of Comer, Ga., and a brother, John Hill, of Atlanta. Another son, F. A. Hill, was killed two years ago in an automobile accident while a member of the police department.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Capitol Avenue Baptist church, and Dr. W. H. Major will officiate. Burial will be in West View cemetery with the J. Austin Dillon Company in charge.

NOURISHMENT with a Flourish!

Your good wholesome home-cooked meals take on the adventurous thrill of dining out when you put Heinz Ketchup on the table. This is one of the world's supreme sauces. Gourmets prize it, as they do a rare wine or a costly seasoning. Its recipe is a secret held by only a handful of Heinz chefs, a magic blending of uncommon Oriental spices sought out where they grow by Heinz' own buyers, and of Heinz' special extra-luscious tomatoes.

Yet of all the world's most cherished culinary delights Heinz Ketchup is the one and only one that all may enjoy. For it is in food stores everywhere, moderately priced. People do enjoy it, too: Heinz Ketchup has become the largest selling in the world.

HEINZ tomato KETCHUP

How Heinz endows the humblest of vegetables with the savory aroma, toothsome texture and delightful flavor that make baked beans America's national dish.

We went back to the golden age of bean-baking, back to Pilgrim kitchens where many long hours were devoted to preparing the important Saturday night feast. Bean-baking then was a rite. Care and labor in heaping measure went into each glorious pot of beans.

Back to the Heinz kitchens we brought the old-fashioned recipe. And every tin of beans we offer you is prepared this way: We sort the beans by hand. We wash them gleaming clean. We soak them many hours in cold water. Then we bake them thoroughly in dry oven heat. For Boston-style beans we make a sweet molasses sauce and add squares of finest pork. (We urge you to try these. They are the authentic old-time dish that delighted our New England forefathers.)

That is the inside story. Of course, Heinz-wise, we buy the finest beans, the "choice hand-picked". But it is the magic old recipe by which we bake them that makes Heinz beans such sheer delight to eat.

THE INSIDE STORY OF HEINZ BAKED BEANS

FOR LENT
Heinz oven-baked beans, with molasses sauce, are the same as the old-time way. But they contain no meat just rich tomato sauce. So they are a splendid dish for Lenten meals.

Portrait of a Salad Getting its Desserts

Add Heinz pure vinegar to your crisp fresh greens and your salad will taste its very best. For this vinegar is so made that it actually awakens and emphasizes the natural good flavor of each fruit and vegetable. It is rich and mellow because it is aged in wood. Heinz makes it of finest ingredients, and then stores it away in wooden casks to age, like fine wine. A year or two later, when the flavor is right for your salad, the vinegar is bottled and brought to your grocer... You owe it to your salad to use Heinz vinegar. Four kinds: Malt, Tarragon, White Pickling and Cider Vinegar. Also, use Heinz Olive Oil, made from superb Spanish olives at the Heinz factory in Seville, Spain.

PRINCE JUAN OF SPAIN PAYS VISIT TO FIANCEE

PARIS, March 21.—(AP)—Prince Juan, heir-claimant to the vacant Spanish throne, came to Paris today to see his fiancée, Princess Marie Mercedes, of the two Sicilies branch of the house of Bourbon-Anjou.

He brought her no engagement ring, however, for his royal father, former

King Alfonso, has yet to give his consent to the engagement of his third and only unmarried son.

Princess Louise, mother of Marie Mercedes, said Alfonso was expected to come to Paris within the next month. He may write before then to give his consent, however, she said.

Don Juan has not yet called upon the princess, her mother said. He is staying with the Count de Ramora here.

CREDIT INDEMNITY CO. REPORT IMPROVEMENT

That business conditions are steadily improving seems to be quite adequately proved by the experiences of the American Credit Indemnity Company of New York. The company had an increasing improvement of business during 1933.

J. F. McFadden, president, has just issued the company's financial statement as of December 31. He states the company was never in a more healthy or prosperous condition. The total assets are given at $2,885,240.03, of which $457,821.70 are in government securities, $35,678.63 in accrued interest, and $215,015.30 in cash. In addition to the regular legal reserves, the statement shows considerable excess reserves. Also, there is a voluntary reserve for losses of $400,000. The capital and surplus is $1,184,847.69.

Mr. McFadden says, "There has never been a time in the history of the company when we have gone from an old into a new year with such a light load of obligations, or with such encouraging prospects for the future."

The L. & L. A. Leonard, general manager of the company.

The L. & L. Freight Lines have been established for over five years, handling shipments from Jacksonville to any point on the east coast to Miami without an interchange, and due to the popularity of this service among southern shippers, the company has now extended this service by establishing a local office, says Mr. Leonard.

Full public and liability insurance and legal published rates are offered shippers by the company.

J. C. McAfee has been appointed local agent and C. L. Maneschmidt will be office manager. Mr. Leonard also will make Atlanta his headquarters.

BRITAIN OFFERS AID IN CHINESE CRISIS

SHANGHAI, Friday, March 22.—(UP)—Great Britain has communicated with China, asking what plans are being considered for relief of China's acute economic and monetary crisis and expressing willingness to join other world powers in extending financial assistance to the distressed nation. Finance Minister H. H. Kung announced today.

To Speak Today

Mildred Seydell, popular writer, will be the speaker this afternoon at the Business Women's Institute being held this week at Davidson-Paxon's. Her subject will be "A Newspaper-woman Catches Celebrities." The institute is being held in the restaurant on the sixth floor of the department store, the session beginning at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Lucy C. Brown, president of the women's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, will introduce the speaker. Preceding the lecture there will be a brief informal showing of correct fashions for business girls.

'CLIPPER' TO TAKE OFF ON FIRST TEST TODAY

MIAMI, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—The huge Pan-American "flying clipper" ship" destined for trans-Pacific service will attempt its first theoretical Pacific crossing tomorrow when it takes off on a 3,000-mile non-stop flight over the Caribbean sea.

The flight will take the 19-ton, four-motored aerial boat and its crew of six, being groomed here to blaze the first commercial airline to the orient, over open sea to the Virgin islands and back. The distance is approximately 600 miles greater than the California-Hawaii hop, longest link in the proposed trail over the Pacific.

It will be the most severe test yet undertaken in a series of training and engineering flights which have already given ship and men more than 5,000 hours in the air.

The ship will carry nearly nine tons of fuel, sufficient for 3,500 miles, or approximately 24 hours, under ordinary flying conditions and storage batteries to feed double radio equipment for 72 hours.

NEWSPAPERS ARE BEST, AD EXECUTIVE ASSERTS

Convention of Chevrolet
Men.

Increased appropriations for newspaper advertising "because dealers have found it the backbone of selling activities" were pointed out Thursday by R. H. Crooker, executive vice president of the Campbell-Ewald Company, which handles Chevrolet advertising among its large accounts.

Crooker was in Atlanta to attend a one-day convention of southeastern Chevrolet men at the Biltmore hotel. "Newspapers are getting the largest percentage of advertising budgets in practically all our accounts," he declared. "Sixty per cent of the Chevrolet appropriation in 1935 will be spent for newspaper advertising, because dealers everywhere have found the daily periodicals the backbone of selling activities."

He said Chevrolet's business last year exceeded all expectations and that plants are producing at capacity but are still unable to manufacture their cars as fast as they are being sold.

"Chevrolet will have an increase in business of from 10 to 15 per cent this year over the output of 1934," Crooker asserted. "Farming communities are buying cars and people have more money to spend than they have had in years. They have confidence and are buying."

H. B. Hatch, assistant general sales manager for Chevrolet in charge of the eastern states, and L. L. Costley, regional manager of the southeast, were present at the Chevrolet convention, which included a dinner Thursday night at the Atlanta Athletic Club for zone managers and sales personnel.

Organization Meeting Program
Covers Two Days of Sessions.

Following up groundwork laid by Professor A. E. Ruark and Professor Charles W. Edwards, heads of the physics departments of the University of North Carolina and Duke University, respectively, an organization meeting of southern physicists is to be held in Atlanta today and tomorrow.

Professor Arthur H. Compton, noted physicist and Nobel prize winner, will speak at Agnes Scott College at 8:15 o'clock this evening. The organization committee will meet immediately following Professor Compton's address.

Preceding the Agnes Scott College session a dinner meeting of the Georgia Academy of Science, to which all visiting physicists are invited, will be held at the Candler hotel in Decatur, commencing at 5:45 o'clock.

All other meetings of the new organization will be held in the chemical laboratory of Emory University, beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

LET THE FAMILY VOTE ON STRAWBERRY CREAM CAKE

Doctor, Lawyer, Merchant, Chief—Every man is a boy again when it comes to Strawberry Cream Cake—particularly when it's the kind of Strawberry Cream Cake Merita bakes. Two rich, thick layers made with eggs, milk and butter, covered and filled with satin-smooth White Fondant Icing to which has been added Strawberry Preserves, and such Strawberry Preserves—you'd think the berries were picked from a dewy bed this very morning. Strawberry Preserves made from nothing on earth but select strawberries and sugar—no artificial coloring—no artificial preservatives—just the wholesome, fragrant flavor of the berries themselves. In the next column is the Merita recipe for this grand cake reduced to kitchen quantities. You can bake it, of course, but a very much easier, pleasant and more economical way is to just ask your Grocer for Merita Strawberry Cream Cake.

"I've tested this recipe and approved the ingredients. You have only to bake it to see the marvelous economy of this Merita Cake at 39c compared with its cost when baked at home."

Mrs. S. P. Dull

Arkansas Woman Denies Poisonings

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 21.—(AP)—On trial for the alleged poisoning of one of her three children who died in violent spasms last November, Mrs. Minnie Rose Jenkins, 29, today told a jury from the witness stand that she was not responsible for the deaths.

Testifying steadily after an outburst of weeping in the courtroom last night, the mother of the three tots repudiated an alleged confession that she had also attempted to poison her husband.

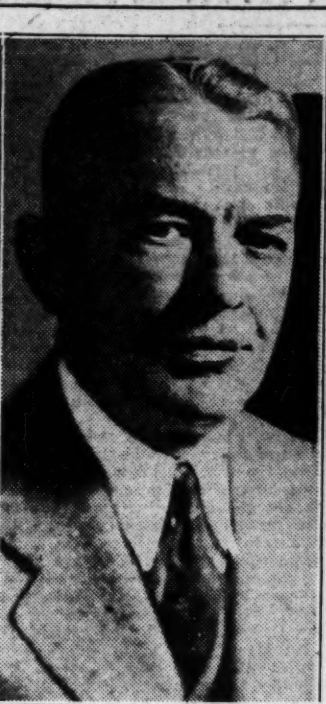

With the state and defense evidence complete, the case will go to the jury, composed of 11 fathers and two mothers, late tomorrow after summations and Supreme Court Justice Frederick P. Close's charge.

This action sent the measure back to the assembly where a committee will work out a compromise bill.

Senate Resolution Praises Work of President Redwine

A resolution, signed by each of the 51 members of the senate except the president officer himself, was adopted Thursday commending the work of Senate President Charles D. Redwine, of Fayetteville.

It was the first such tribute given a senate president in recent years.

The resolution, which was adopted, with Senator Preston Rawlins, of McRae, president pro tem. presiding, follows:

"Whereas, the session of the general assembly of 1935 is drawing to a close, and

"Whereas, during its entire session have permeated all his rulings, and materially contributed to the accomplishments of the general assembly during its present session, and

"Whereas, his outstanding services as president of the senate merit the appreciation of the people of Georgia, and his kindness, courtesy and gentlemanly conduct have endeared him to the senate members of this body:

"Therefore, he it resolved, by the senate that the senate does hereby express to the Honorable Charles D. Redwine the grateful appreciation of this body as a whole, and of its individual members, for his faithful, efficient, untiring, able and loyal services to the senate and to the people of Georgia during the present session.

"Resolved, further, that this resolution be entered upon the journal of the senate and that a copy suitably engrossed be delivered to Mr. Redwine."

PHILLIPS DELICIOUS VEGETABLE SOUP

"I SUFFERED WITH CONSTIPATION* FOR SIXTEEN YEARS"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief to Mr. McNeil

We quote from his unsolicited letter: "I suffered with constipation* for 16 years. Finally, I started using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in connection with other nourishing foods.

"I consider myself a well man at this time, not having had an attack for over two years. I am sure ALL-BRAN helped wonderfully by overcoming constipation*."—Mr. L. M. McNeil, Lockwood, W. Va.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid elimination. Also vitamin B and iron.

This "bulk" resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is more effective. ALL-BRAN continues to get results when used for months.

Isn't this food safer than raking patent medicines? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

In Georgia's FIELDS and STREAMS

One of the things in which my friend Ed Komarek appears to be deeply interested at this time is the cotton rat. This little rodent is common all over Georgia and is a problematical species. I had better explain just what I mean by that. All the rats and mice that frequent our field and woodlands are the basis for animal communities. They are the ones that change plant matter into animal flesh and furnish food for meat eaters, both bird and mammal.

If it were not for the interest man takes in certain matters, such as raising too much food for his consumption, cotton rats would not be a problem at all. As it is, they are responsible for great crop damage all through the south. It is nature's way of limiting production and should not be interfered with over large areas. Control of too many cotton rats is necessary, but to set out to stop them altogether anywhere is a bit foolhardy. You might just as well issue all the forces in the neighborhood engraved invitations to your chicken coop.

Now the cotton rat is a small brown animal that frequents sedge fields, especially those that have stood for three or four years. Here they cut runways through the dead grass and literally cover the area with their trails. There are occasional nests here and there, where there are more and more cotton rats produced from time to time all during the year. It looks like cotton rats ought to be named sedgefield rats, but the biologists have already christened the species.

Most of the relatives of the cotton rats have their residences to the south of us, especially in Mexico. The recent invasion of the Mexican boll weevil brings to mind the invasion of cotton rats that took place many, many years ago, and was a slow process, beginning as it did with the origin of the group itself. That borders on the technical now and we had better mention something else before I get wound up on distribution.

The cotton rats are members of the Crictine series of the Muridae, which just means that they are native mice closely related to the white-faced mice and cotton mice and golden mice and other familiar species. What their life history may be I do not know, but preparations are well under way to start finding out. They are important from an economic point of view and I want to find a way of controlling them without resorting to the use of poison.

RAIL RATE SLASH DECLARED ILLEGAL

I. C. C. Examiners Say
Georgia Intrastate Reduction Violates Act.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—The Georgia public service commission was declared by two interstate commerce commission examiners today to have violated the transportation act in ordering reduced freight rates within the state.

The examiners recommended that the commission, acting under Section 13 of the transportation act, order the railroads to put their rates in Georgia on the same level as interstate rates.

The commission investigation was started several months ago on petition of railroads within the state. They asked the commission to determine whether the rates were fair to interstate commerce and whether they gave Georgia points an undue advantage over outside cities.

Examiners F. E. Mullen and J. G. Cooper told the commission that it should hold the Georgia rates illegal and pointed out numerous instances where shippers in Birmingham and other points have experienced loss of business at points in Georgia in competition with producers and shippers in that state because of the reductions in state rates below the level of interstate rates.

Members of congress from the south regarded the finding and recommendation of the examiners as bearing directly on efforts to bring haul charges of their area down to the level now prevailing in the eastern territory.

Senator George, democrat, Georgia, said, "I greatly regret the recommendation and regard it as a serious blow to efforts to obtain fair rates for our shippers."

Senator Russell, democrat, Georgia, said he was opposed "to anything being done which will put any obstacle in front of our efforts to get reduced rates in the south."

CHAIRMAN JUD WILHOIT RESERVES HIS COMMENT

Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the Georgia public service commission, Thursday reserved comment on the declaration of two interstate commerce commission examiners that the state commission had violated the transportation act in ordering reduced freight rates in the state.

"These commission reports are always long and it will take us some time to complete a study of this one," Wilhoit said. "When it is received and we have done this I will have something to say."

Butter Substitutes Are Taxed by State

A bill imposing an excise tax of 10 cents a pound on butter substitutes, and which exempts locally produced cottonseed oil, became a law Thursday when signed by Governor Talmadge.

The bill, considered a boon to Georgia cotton growers, as it is designed to increase the demand for cotton seed which produce the domestic oils which are not taxable and go into the making of oleomargarine, provides for the placing of stamps evidencing the payment of the tax. Proceeds from the tax are to go into the general state fund.

Any person violating provisions of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $25, nor more than $200, or by confinement not to exceed two months or both.

Provisions of the bill stipulated that the department of agriculture is empowered to promulgate such rules and regulations as it deems consistent with the act.

'SURPRISES' SEEN IN COTTON PROBE

Inquiry Into Recent Market Break To Start Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—The senate agriculture committee's inquiry into the recent break in the cotton market will get under way next week with a promise of "surprises."

Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, said the investigation, for which $10,000 has been appropriated, will start not later than next Thursday and would delve into the many phases of marketing cotton.

The conference with McFadden concerned changes in rules and regulations of the exchange while the meeting with the Egyptian representatives related to the world price and consumption of cotton.

Smith announced plans for the cotton price probe immediately after an executive session of the agriculture committee. He said the list of witnesses to be subpoenaed will be kept secret until the last minute.

"I don't want them to get the jump on me, but I think the committee will surprise you," he declared.

While the agriculture committee met to consider several bills before it, special attention was given to the Bailey export bounty plan. Senator Bailey, democrat, North Carolina, appeared before the committee to explain his measure which would set up a $50,000,000 fund to pay bounties to farmers selling their products in the world market at world prices. The bounties would be paid to insure parity prices.

Smith said it was likely hearings would be held on the measure, which was one of the three suggestions included in resolutions for increasing cotton prices adopted this week at a conference of southern senators.

Since cotton is the nation's chief export commodity, the bounty plan would be of special importance to that crop.

Other suggestions included assurance from the government that 12-cent a pound bounties would be continued on 1935 cotton to the same extent they were made in 1934.

Seek To End 100 Years' War

Braves of the Seminole tribe in Florida, who have officially been at war with the United States for 100 years, offered a peace proposal to Secretary of Interior Ickes March 21. They asked 200,000 acres of hunting grounds and other rights that would permit them to live as their forefathers. Ickes, in the foreground, promised to use his influence to obtain a satisfactory settlement of the long dormant conflict—a product of the United States' conquest of the 'Gator state.

all charges dropped on March 14, according to police records. They were taken into custody on charges of fighting with R. B. Eubanks, of Douglasville, on March 14. Eubanks forfeited a $12 bond by not appearing in court Thursday. The arrests grew out of an altercation at Grady hospital when Eubanks attempted to collect $24 from the three young men. He said he had paid out that amount for an ambulance to bring a young woman, who was injured when the automobile of the three Atlantians overturned near Douglasville, to the hospital. Cook was released by police when it was shown he was not in the fight.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECT CAPTURED IN CHASE

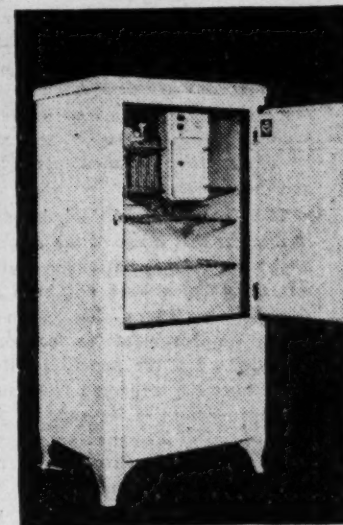

A six-block chase by an impromptu posse early Thursday night recovered the automobile of W. Frank Elliott, assistant foreman of The Constitution composing room, which had been pushed from in front of his home at 185 Wellington street, S. W., according to police reports.

Elliott had just parked his car and gone into his house when his father-in-law, J. A. Babb, shouted that a man had seated himself in the car and that another car was pushing it off. Elliott, Hugh Babb and Willie Winter, who were at the Elliott home, ran out of the house and hailed the first passing automobile. The chase extended six blocks and a man who gave his name as W. A. Roberts, 20, of College Park, who was seated in Elliott's car, was arrested and held on charges of suspicion of automobile theft. The driver of the propelling car escaped.

HANDS OFF!

President Roosevelt does well in directing the state department to use every precaution to avoid involving the United States in the acute situation now existing in Europe.

It is none of our business, and we should stay hands off.

Since Hitler's re-armament proclamation is in violation of the separate peace treaty between Germany and this country, it is perhaps necessary for the American government to register formal protest—but under no circumstances should this protest be permitted to involve us in a situation in which we have everything to lose and nothing to gain, should we get into it.

Only a spark is needed to set off another great conflagration in Europe. Even if it does not come now, it may later. When it does come, the age-old hatreds and jealousies of Europe will again flame the war spirit throughout Europe.

We have learned to our sorrow the inevitable result of becoming involved in the troubles of Europe. We will not do it again!

POISONOUS BREWS

Startling revelation of the poisonous ingredients contained in the corn liquor which is now flooding Georgia from border to border, and the indescribably filthy conditions under which much of it is manufactured, is contained in a statement by W. K. Johnston, inspector in charge of the alcohol tax unit in Georgia, in which he holds "if Atlantans knew how the corn liquor they consume was made they would confine themselves to tax-paid whisky made in reliable distilleries."

This federal official singles out Atlanta for his warning because it has been asserted that more than 100,000 gallons of corn liquor are consumed in the city every month, a larger amount, in ratio to population, than any other city in the country. In lesser degree, every community in the state is flooded with the same poisonous concoctions, masquerading under the name of corn liquor.

Here is the revolting picture painted by Mr. Johnston of conditions discovered at illicit stills by federal raiding parties:

I have conducted raids on Georgia moonshine stills and have found fifth six inches deep on top of the open fermenters used by the moonshiners. It is nothing unusual to find maggots, yellow jackets and even dead snakes in the fermenters, and on one occasion we even discovered a dead hog. Furthermore, negroes are generally employed to tend the stills and often we find them to be suffering from serious social diseases. In almost every instance, these negroes are by no means clean.

Furthermore, in order to speed up fermentation, some still operators will throw to the barnyard and obtain a shovel full of refuse from the horse stable and place it in the fermenters. For some reason unknown to me, this speeds up the fermenting process.

It is not surprising that having viewed such conditions this federal official vows "never to touch a drop of corn liquor," and urges that the people of Atlanta and Georgia use no intoxicants other than those that have the tax seal of the government on their containers, the purity of which is therefore assured.

Every drink of the stuff described by Mr. Johnston contains a potential threat to the physical, mental and moral well-being of the person swallowing it. That a civilized community should use a hundred thousand gallons of it each month, a distressingly large per cent of the consumers being young boys and girls, is almost unbelievable.

able, and yet there is indisputable proof that consumption is increasing by leaps and bounds. There can be no more forceful argument for the need of enforceable regulations controlling the sale of intoxicants than the shocking revelations made by this representative of the federal government.

It is fortunate that the people of Georgia have awakened to the folly of present conditions and are evidently determined that new methods of control that will run the bootlegger out of the state shall supplant the present unenforceable statutes.

CUBA'S DARK OUTLOOK.

Regardless of the outcome of the present disturbances in Cuba, the Foreign Policy Association of New York foresees continued trouble in the island republic, with three groups playing outstanding parts. These groups are designated as the army and conservative interests headed by Colonel Batista, the ABC Society and the so-called autenticos, and the communists.

This foreboding outlook is based in the fact that many of the reforms hoped for when the Machado regime was overthrown have not been accomplished. There has been a steady improvement in economic conditions, but the beneficial effect to be normally expected from such an improvement is lessened by the fear of many Cubans that it will serve to strengthen the old discredited social system.

The Mendieta government has made little attempt to bring about the desired reforms, restricting its activities almost entirely to preparing for elections at which a constitutional government would be designated. These elections were first set for December, then because of widespread disorders and discontent were postponed to March and have now been set for August.

The present revolt was originally based on the demands of Cuban students and teachers for social reforms, including larger appropriations for education and free school books. These elements launched a strike on February 12 that closed every school on the island. The scope of the strike was broadened and became more political in nature when it was joined by the professors and students of the University of Havana, whose principle objective was the overthrow of Colonel Batista.

Later the movement was joined by a number of radical labor organizations and the ABC. The communist-controlled National Confederation of Labor called a general strike for March 11. Although the government declared a "state of war," railroad workers, taxi drivers and the workers in all but three governmental departments quit their jobs, it being estimated that approximately 400,000 men and women were on strike.

Apparently the government has succeeded in quelling the present uprising, most of the workers having been forced by the army to return to their posts. Mendieta has lost much of the support he at one time enjoyed. Some of the most influential members of his cabinet have resigned and are openly aligned with the discontented elements responsible for the current disturbances. It is clear that President Mendieta's policy of concentrating on arrangements for the selection of a constitutional government and leaving for that government the accomplishment of the reforms demanded has not met the approval of the public generally.

It may be that he can win back some of his lost support by attempting now to bring about these reforms, but should he continue his former policies it is probable that, as the Foreign Policy Association predicts, there will be continued discontent and disorder.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Of Marriage and Divorce.

The Moors in Nigeria have but one wife. They are monogamists. However, they exchange wives every year or so. A divorce is easily obtained. They simply state that the wife is quarreling and is considered bad taste, if not sinful, the nearest marabout who is informed of the nagging declares the marriage dissolved. Even the marabout's services can be dispensed with if husband and wife take the precaution of presenting each other with a parting gift; a leather belt, for instance, or an earring, by way of souvenir of happy days, and at the same time as a piece of evidence that can be introduced on judgment day before the Angel Gabriel and his helpers in proof that man and wife parted good friends and without cursing.

When a young man desires to marry a girl and he is assured of her consent, he charges a marabout with the rest of the negotiations. The marabout must inquire how many sheep, goats, heads of cattle and bar money the parents of the girl desire in exchange for their daughter.

Palavers.

Once the parents have learned the identity of a suitor for their daughter's hand they act as if he is a total stranger to them, even if he happens to be a next-door neighbor, or a life or a close relative. When the future in-laws meet each other they hide their faces and pass each other without exchanging a single word of greeting. The prenuptial negotiations last two or three months. Endless palaver! Over a little goat or a dress or a piece of money they quarrel for hours, but they always come to an agreement, which they then proceed to seal by drinking some milk and eating a little rice. The wedding day an ox is roasted, southern barbecue style, and there is great rejoicing.

Child Welfare.

Newly born babies have their bodies rubbed with butter. The mother's face also gets a turn and she is fed on beef until she is re-established, when she goes automatically to the milk and rice diet. At the birth of a child the husbands stays as far away from the baby as possible so as not to hurt the violent and obscene insults which the young mama flings at his head. In that way he cannot testify against her in the bench trial which follows, who although he marks down every word spoken in a lifetime, must nevertheless have corroboration on judgment day, which is more than fair.

Beauty Treatment.

The Moors in the raw state, as here in Nigeria, never wash. Sometimes they rub their faces with a little sand, but with water never. Soap is unknown. The women use butter by way of beauty cream, but it smells differently. Hair dyeing is frequent among all Arabic and Moorish tribes. They beat their hair with smearing the paste over their hair, letting it dry in the sun and then shampooing it with a little more camel butter. The hair is then combed and the gloss wears off in a certain time, through the heat of the sun and trickles over cheek and chin in dirty streaks. The women are fond of dyeing their beards a violent red color.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

YOUR MONEY OR YOUR LIFE.

The Yankee public, if you get what I mean, spent last year for antiseptic and germicide preparations the sum of—oh, let's not mention the amount—makes me sick just to think of it and I'm sure I don't want you staggering around while I'm trying to pound a bit of sense into your heads. What I hope to fix in your mind, Mr. and Mrs. Wiseacre, is not likely to harm your health and may save your money if not your life. I'm afraid there is a lot of humor in the world which more than eighty million of your well-educated folk are missing.

Quick, now, and sharp—germs on the skin or in the mouth or in the nose or in the throat or in the stomach or in the intestines (that is, in the secretions or on the lining membrane) are doing no harm and indeed are not dangerous to the person who has them. They are merely a part of the gob of pale jelly you call your mind. Not until germs have invaded the tissues of the body can they cause any trouble whatever. Quiet, please, or leave the hall. Now, if you are a good bracer or brain tonic to support you for just a moment longer and the operation is finished. When germs have invaded body tissues you can't get at them with any known germicide or antiseptic, that is, not unless you wish to destroy the tissues as well as the invaders. So unless you are confident, as so many are, that a smart layman knows more than an ordinary doctor does about such things, I suggest that your "antiseptic" preparations will do no great harm if you dump it in the sink.

So far as minor wounds, burns or sores are concerned, healing proceeds at a fixed rate under the most favorable conditions and can't be accelerated by the use of antiseptics. But the germ-killing process is often retarded by the use of antiseptics of remedies which actually destroy germs or purport to destroy them. The common complaint that slight injuries heal slowly is generally testimony to the harm done by such deleterious "healing" salves or ointments. Do not misapprehend this as a condemnation of salves or lotions or even antiseptic remedies. I believe in them and use them myself and advise everybody to use them, in the proper way and in proper doses. The intent is simply to urge you not to silly about antiseptics and germicides. And you are as silly as they make you when you expect to expect to exert any influence on the course of, say, or a sore throat by washing the surface with an antiseptic or when you expect to cure a skin eruption by the application of a germicide. The apple to polish the skin, you know, is the apple to polish the skin, you know.

Of course it is a fine artistic practice to kill germs in the secretions that way and so protect those around you from catching whatever disease you don't tell me you pay your good money for that, or I'll die laughing.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon

BLINDMAN'S BLUFFS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The re-saddling of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse by Herr Hitler was almost as puzzling to our diplomatic seers as the average newspaper reader. The diplomats know little more about what he is up to than you do, but they have their own ideas, which may be accurately condensed as follows:

Hitler is only an omen. What is fundamentally wrong with the situation is that he and all the rest of the statesmen of Europe are not brilliant enough to solve the economic catastrophe in which they are mired.

A favorite old remedy of dictators and statesmen to order the beating of the war drums when the people threaten to do more than cry for bread.

Hitler is an opportunist playing that game, and he is not the only one. He does not want war, but he must have diplomatic victories, by threatening wars. He must keep on having them. He cannot stop until his domestic economic and political situation is safe.

As no one here believes his situation is going to be safe any time soon, the belief is general that the game has only started.

WAR? To continue paraphrasing the personal thoughts of our political wise men:

This game requires hazardous living under the constant threat of war, without getting into one. At least, the broad objective is to state of war until economic chaos threatens to engulf you at home or until you are strong enough to conduct a war with a reasonable chance of success.

Hitler stole this technique from the Japanese. They have been playing just about the same game in the Orient. By aggressive, warlike diplomacy, they have won frequent diplomatic victories from Russia and everyone else in Manchukuo and China, thus avoiding political chaos at home.

Of course, with all this loading and priming of guns, one is likely to go off at any time. When war will come is anybody's guess. The best guessing ranges from one year to five years. It may be sooner or later. The inevitability of it is obvious.

HOPE

The way is being shrewdly and quietly left open for a resumption of trade negotiations with Russia.

Contrary to official promises, made six weeks ago at the White House and state department, the export-import bank for Russia has not been abolished. Of course, all they would have to do to abolish it is to tear up a couple of credit papers in George Peck's files. However, the papers are still in their original place.

The inside explanation is that the anger of the State Department has cooled. Our diplomats (influenced by our ambassador to Russia, Bill Bullitt) have decided that to tear up the papers would be an unnecessary affront after our curtailment of the Moscow embassy staff and the decision not to build a new embassy.

That means they have hope.

MONEY There is more to the hope than the papers. It may be denied, but certain informal talks have been held lately between Russian and American officials.

One thing which has helped to soften the situation considerably is the fact that the Soviets recently mined $200,000,000 of new gold and also received a loan from France. Russia is now refusing credit from American firms for that reason. Furthermore, the January trade figures showed that she is taking more goods from us.

Of course, if she wants to buy and has money—that will be different.

SHAM? The house bonus battle was a dull affair. Interest seemed mainly limited to half a dozen congressmen and the familiar squad of veterans from Washington hospitals, who always assemble hopefully in the congressional galleries when matters affecting them are under discussion. However, attendance at the earlier veterans' debates.

The reason is everyone knows it does not make much difference what kind of bill is passed by the house.

HOWE Inside the White House it was known a week ago that Louis Howe probably would die. In fact, that is the reason the announcement of his illness was given out at that time. He had several earlier relapses, during the preceding two years. Occasional reports that he would not survive them, but he did not like to have information about them published. A doctor told him 10 years ago that he would not live a year.

ESCAPE The hottest private conference held in Washington recently was that of Co-ordinator Richberg with the labor advisory board.

Irate United Miner John Lewis is supposed to have conducted a series of examinations of Richberg on New Deal labor policies which could have been no more spectacular if Lewis had chased Richberg around the room with a red hot poker.

After hours of it, at 7 p. m. Richberg excused himself to make a telephone call. He never re-entered the room.

Lewis and the others finally decided it was as diplomatic an exit as they had witnessed and made telephone calls themselves.

Debonair Senator J. Ham Lewis took no chances with the Irish vote and wore a green handkerchief for four days after St. Patrick's Day.

Nobody in the Jungle Stops to Argue With the Unswerving Elephant

By Robert Quillen

Thirty-five years ago, when nobody felt responsible for the hard luck of anybody else, the regular army in foreign service was no place for teacher's pet.

Most of the recruits who elected to serve abroad, particularly in the cavalry, were young bums, failures, young fellows who wished to be inconspicuous until the trouble back home was forgotten, and romantic boys who gave themselves the dignity of three or four mythical birthdays in order to qualify for the equally mythical life of adventure made glamorous by Teddy and his Roughriders.

These youngsters had no experience of discipline. In fact, most of them had run away from home to escape it. The very fact of being where they were was proof of their rebellion against precedent, routine and the environment. They were green kids, yet all were a little wilder than the environment from which they came.

Such boys, surely, were not especially amenable to discipline. Yet all of them, with the exception of a few sullen incorrigibles, immediately resigned themselves to an unquestioning obedience that soon became second nature.

How do you explain it? A few, perhaps, were cowed by the strangeness of their environment; others were intimidated by roaring drillmasters whose profane rages made any slight awkwardness seem a major crime.

But they knew, or quickly learned, that disobedience would bring no greater punishment than loss of spending money, regular work and a little more restraint. Nobody was whipped, and profane criticism loses force by repetition.

Yet they obeyed their West Point officers and German non-coms without argument or hesitation—leaped to attention, jerked off their hats in quarters, saluted, got up and went to bed at appointed hours, remained within certain bounds, and at all times did as they were told to do.

They obeyed because no alternative was offered. They were up against a system, impersonal and unbeatable, that took obedience for granted and accepted no excuses.

When the top sergeant told them to "Fall in" or "Port arms," he didn't ask them to do it like a nice little man, nor did he offer them a nickel or coax or threaten.

There was dignity in a command, and obedience was made to seem a natural function shared by everybody.

It was a good scheme, for it worked; and if it tamed these wild boys, it might be equally effective in taming small ones.

POET WILL BE GUEST AT TEA HERE TODAY

Leonora Owsley Herman To Give Readings of Her
Poems at Rich's.

Rich's bookshop announced that the distinguished poet, Leonora Owsley Herman, whose book of poems entitled "Rather Personel" is receiving wide and favorable comment, will be guest of honor at a tea in the bookshop at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

This announcement will be of much interest to Atlantans as Mrs. Herman has a host of friends in Atlanta, having lived here for a number of years at one time.

During the afternoon Mrs. Herman will give readings of her poems and will talk informally.

Leonora Owsley Herman has studied music since her early childhood in Virginia. She has studied painting in the Paris academies with Simon, Messard and Julie the younger. In "Rather Personel" she has blended her knowledge of harmony and rhythm with her aptitude for form to produce an altogether enjoyable book. The verses range from dramatic to the gayest form of light verse and are arranged according to topics so that a glance at the headings give an idea of the broad range from sadness to gaiety. Thus "Rather Personel" is a collection of poems in which Mrs. Herman sets forth her own philosophy of life, of beauty and even of her reason for writing poetry.

That Mrs. Herman is not submerged by sad and serious things is apparent in any number of amusing verses including one entitled "Not Yours" dealing with the fellow who doesn't know when he's had enough. It concludes with the stanza:

For another fellow's bun
Really makes a lot of fun
And amuses every one
Except his—wife.

Mrs. Herman comes to Atlanta to be the guest of Atlanta's Writers' Club.

MOVE BEGUN TO SPUR CITY'S WAR ON RABIES

War on rabies in Atlanta will be launched if the finance committee and city council approve a program evolved Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the city's sanitary committee.

Alderman I. Glover, of the ninth ward, asked the committee to approve an effort to secure three additional "dog wagons" to assist the one now working in enforcement of present laws in the effort to stem the spread of the disease.

One will be assigned to each city quadrant if plans are consummated. Under the present laws, all persons owning or harboring dogs are required to have them inoculated with anti-rabies serum and to obtain a city license costing $1 a year. The inoculation costs another $1, making a total of $2 a year for each dog.

Hailey estimated the cost of operation of the department under the proposed expansion would be $9,533.40 a year and that receipts by the city would jump from $3,192 collected in 1934, to more than $13,000. Last year 358 persons were treated in Atlanta for rabies following bites by infected canines. Although the city collected the $1 tax from only 3,192 dogs, a total of 9,888 persons paid the $1 inoculation charge to insure their pets against infection.

The one wagon picked up 2,375 dogs last year, and 2,112 were destroyed.

Hailey believes when the public is informed fully about the law and when an intensive enforcement drive is made that at least 15,000 persons will procure licenses, that many dogs which are not now immune from contagion will be given the serum, and that thousands of stray dogs will be destroyed. He told the sanitary committee, headed by Councilman William R. Johnson, that something must be done to curb the spread of rabies, "which has now reached serious proportions and bids fair to become a menace to the health and lives of thousands of Atlantans."

Hailey was empowered to take his plea to the finance committee with the favorable backing of the sanitary committee. The finance group meets next Tuesday afternoon.

UNLIGHTED WAGONS ARE NOW ILLEGAL ON ROADS AT NIGHT

Reflectors or lights are required at night on any vehicle propelled by human power in Georgia under the provisions of a bill introduced into the legislature by Mrs. Helen Williams Coxon, of Long county, and enacted into law.

The measure requires all horse or mule-drawn vehicles or other vehicles propelled by muscular power, which would include bicycles, to be equipped with one front light or reflector and with one rear light or reflector at night. Such lights or reflectors are required to be visible for a distance of not less than 100 feet.

It is also stipulated in the measure, which passed the house and senate and has been signed by the governor, that every motor vehicle, tractor and motorcycle, while in use or operation upon the streets or highways, shall be equipped with "efficient and serviceable" brakes, and some form of signaling device.

Incorporated in the law is a provision which requires every motor vehicle on the highways to be equipped with a front lamp or lamps, provided with dimming or focus-changing facilities; to have a rear or tail light; and to have its license plates illuminated with a white light.

Provisions of the law concerning warning devices on motor vehicles do not apply, however, to tractors used exclusively for agricultural purposes while being operated on public roads, nor to tractors not using the roads.

Mrs. Coxon, of the Georgia general assembly, said her idea was to make the highways safer for night travel.

NOTED SCIENTISTS WILL MEET TODAY AT AGNES SCOTT

Leaders in the worlds of science, physics and mathematics will gather at Agnes Scott College today for the opening session of a two-day joint meeting of the southeastern section of the Mathematical Association of America, the Georgia Academy of Science and the first meeting of the American Physical Society.

Among the outstanding features of the meetings will be the appearance of Professor K. P. Williams, of Indiana University, who will read two papers, "The Movement of Mercury's Perihelion," and "The Place of Mathematics in Secondary Education." His papers will be among a dozen which will be delivered under the auspices of the mathematical association.

Another speaker who will attract widespread attention when he speaks tonight is Dr. Alexander Silverman, of the University of Pittsburgh. His subject is "Glass, an Indispensable Factor in Modern Civilization." Dr. R. C. Rhodes, retiring president of the Georgia Academy of Science, will speak on the opportunity of a democracy to regulate the nature of its population.

Bandits' Victim Runs Five Miles Sans Pants

Taking his trousers and $13 in cash, three armed white bandits who picked up Jack Dickson, negro truck driver, in their automobile near McDonough boulevard and Grant street Thursday afternoon, set him out of the automobile after a 15-mile ride and instructed him to run.

And run, Dickson did. He ran for a distance estimated at five miles, through swamps, fields, across creeks and roads, in his semi-nude condition. He told police he was afraid to stop or to call to passers-by for aid until he heard a farm near Cedar Grove church, where he shouted his predicament to a farmer's wife who laughingly repeated it to her husband. The latter supplied Dickson with a pair of overalls.

RESERVE MANEUVERS WILL BE HELD HERE

Atlanta will assume new importance as a military training base during the coming summer, when it will be the scene of mimic warfare and aerial maneuvers as approximately 425 military reservists train at Fort McPherson and 41 air corps officers report for duty with the army air corps led at Candler field, reserve headquarters announced Thursday.

Both Fort McPherson and Candler field will be bustling with military activity from the first of July through August.

The air reservists will train during various two-week periods at Candler field and their programs include cross-country flights that will take the military planes and their pilots over other sections of the state.

Marathon Ban Bill Delayed by Amendment

Endurance dancing and walking contests would be prohibited under a bill already passed by the house and senate provided the house accepts an amendment making the bill effective June 1.

Introduced by Representative John Squire, of Euclid county, and by others, including some of the Macon house delegation, the bill would prohibit such dances and contests, and make it a misdemeanor to violate the law.

Senator Cooper, of Macon, introduced the amendment making it effective June 1, when the bill was passed in the senate today.

The Macon senator said the bill was directed primarily at Macon, where an endurance walking contest is now on. The Macon Drum and Bugle Corps contracted for the contest some weeks ago, and would suffer loss were it to be abandoned now, he said. "Picture show interests," said Mr. Cooper, "were opposed to the contest."

SENATE DEFEATS ANTI-TRUST RIDER

Borah Seeks Restoration Under Job Bill and Vote Is Close, 43-33.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(UP)—The senate by a vote of 43 to 33 tonight rejected an amendment to the $4,880,000,000 work-relief bill which by restoring the anti-trust laws suspended by the NRA would have destroyed the major New Deal project.

The amendment was offered by Senator William E. Borah, who warned that 80 per cent of the building materials to be purchased under the works bill were controlled by trusts and combines and that the market had been "rigged against the government."

Eighteen democrats, 14 republicans and one farmer-laborite voted for the Borah amendment. Thirty-five democrats, seven republicans and one progressive voted against it.

The veteran Idaho senator offered the proposal as the senate neared the end of its long fight over the job-relief bill. During the day it rejected 78 to 8, an amendment by Senator Robert L. Follie to increase the appropriation to $9,000,000,000 and disposed of several other minor amendments.

The suddenness of Borah's attack threw senate leaders into confusion. As one senator after another arose to denounce the anti-trust rider, the chairman of the finance committee, took the floor.

"Let us proceed in an orderly manner to enact legislation," he pleaded, explaining that his committee now was holding hearings with a view to reporting to the senate a revised NRA.

"This amendment is the death knell of the NRA," he shouted.

Borah and his colleagues emphasized that the fact that the government was about to spend $5,000,000,000 of the taxpayers' money on a work-relief program made it essential that action be taken immediately to prevent this money from enriching corporations.

Relief for Rich.
"Millions of dollars of this money will never reach the poor," he said sternly. "It will go into the coffers of the already over-rich."

Senator Henry Shipstead said sharply: "Dividends under this program are incidental. You can't take billions of dollars out of the NRA."

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS
Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acid and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and indigestion.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

dollars of the taxpayers money to pay dividends."

The close vote and the temper of the debate indicated clearly a pronounced determination of a large number of senators to restore the effectiveness of the anti-trust laws suspended to permit industries to engage in price-fixing, production and price control, Pittsburgh plus basing point and other agreements.

Many who voted against the Borah amendment today have indicated their opposition to suspension of the trust laws. Their vote today was considered more of a desire to permit further investigation by the finance committee before remedial legislation is passed.

Glass Leads Attack.
The issue cut sharply across party lines and found liberals voting with the conservatives and the conservatives joining with Borah to put an end to alleged monopolies.

Leading the attack in favor of the Borah amendment was Chairman Carter Glass, of the appropriations committee in charge of the bill. He announced as soon as the proposal was offered that he favored its provisions and used the opportunity for another of his characteristic vitriolic attacks upon the NRA.

The majority of the business men of the country didn't want the NRA," he said sharply. "Those that didn't want it had to take it through a provision written into the act which gave the president the right to impose codes."

With the Borah and other amendments disposed of, the jobs bill faced a final skirmish over silver and inflation before final enactment. Leaders hope to obtain a final vote tomorrow and if not will hold the senate in session Saturday until it is adjourned.

AD VALOREM LIMIT OF 15 MILLS VOTED

The county now levies a 7-mill tax for schools and a 1-mill county-wide tax for the highway fund which will be combined and cut to 5 mills.

The new plan was evolved following a long series of conferences which began late Wednesday after Governor Talmadge appeared before the legislature and called for his 10-mill limitation program which previously had been rejected in favor of the 15-mill exemption proposal of Speaker Rivers.

Various Conferences.
The conferences included one between Speaker Rivers, Representative Roy V. Harris, of Richmond county, the house floor leader, and Representative John B. Spivey, of Emanuel county, the chairman of the ways and means committee of the lower branch of the assembly.

At this conference it is understood that Governor Talmadge obtained the assent of Rivers to support the new proposal.

Then the governor conferred with Senate President Redwine and the finance committee, namely, Senator Ellis Pope, of Lyons; Senator Linton Johnston, of Royston, and Senator J. B. Duncan, of Perry.

Then followed another conference in the executive offices in which the three senate members of the tax committee, namely, Senator Ellis Pope, of Lyons; Senator Linton Johnston, of Royston, and Senator J. B. Duncan, of Perry.

A snow storm in Atlanta 30 years ago, so terrible that a charitable organization had to be created to care for the stricken thousands, was recalled Thursday night as officials, past and present, and charter members of the Family Welfare Society gathered for the thirtieth annual dinner and board meeting at the Capital City Club, and reviewed the society's history.

A picture of the trials and tribulations of the society in aiding the needy was presented by three men, Dr. C. R. Stauffer, president, related the happenings of the last decade, including the present depression, Judge E. Marvin Underwood told of the war decade, and Dr. David Marx discussed the decade of the snow storm.

Tribute to the late Joseph C. Logan, first secretary of the society, was made by Dr. Stauffer.

When it was organized under the name of the Associated Charities was paid at the meeting. Speakers told of the purpose of the Family Welfare Society in co-ordinating and directing other charities and in training social workers so that efficient service can be obtained in time of need.

Linton Hopkins, a past president, presided and introduced the speakers.

Miss Rhoda Kaufman is executive secretary of the society now and arranged the program carried out Thursday night.

Other past presidents who attended were R. L. Foreman, 1914-1915; Kendall Weisiger, 1922-1924; Judge Underwood, 1924-1926; and F. A. Jordan, 1930-1931. Dr. Stauffer became president in 1931.

Code Provisions Discussed At Restaurant Meet, Show

Discussions of the restaurant code, including many recommendations for minor changes in the existing code, featured the Thursday afternoon session of the first annual southeastern restaurant convention and exposition at the city auditorium.

Successful operation of the restaurant code, under which hundreds of hours of certain restaurant employees are permitted to work seven days a week, has been operating, was reported by Boyd Gerhardt, of Washington, deputy administrator for the restaurant code.

"Naturally, there must be minor changes from time to time in any code that is designed for the convenience of thousands of business houses. Some of the provisions which are applicable in one section of the country are not entirely feasible in another," he said.

Among the many recommendations discussed was one for a 14-hour spread of hours for certain restaurant employees instead of the 12-hour spread under which the restaurants are now operating. Another was the suggestion that a few of the specialized employees be permitted to work seven days a week. The restaurant operators seemed thoroughly satisfied with the present wage rates.

Operation of the code in this section of the country was discussed by Robert J. Williams, of Raleigh, N. C., regional director of the NRA, Atlanta, who outlined the progress of compliance and advanced many illustrations of the benefits derived from compliance.

Restaurant operators from the 14 states represented at the convention voiced their opinions of various phases of the code and offered suggestions for modifications, citing instances from their personal experience in substantiation of their recommendations.

Major recommendations made at the meeting Thursday afternoon will be incorporated in a resolution which will be forwarded to the national restaurant code authority, of which Admiral George LaSavage, of New York city, is chairman. Admiral LaSavage, who was present at the meeting Thursday afternoon, and his 10 associates on the authority, which has three southern representatives, will discuss the recommendations with the purpose of incorporating those applicable to the southeastern section in the code which with restaurants in the south-east will comply.

TAILOR ARRESTED IN RESORT DEATH

"After his testimony, he was returned to the county jail," Dr. F. Lovens, of the Moore county jury, said. Quilter's death was due to a fractured skull.

"The depression," he said, "might have resulted from a blow or from a fall."

Didn't Strike Her.
Bernice Quilter, the dead woman's 16-year-old daughter, testified she found her mother's purse, blood-smeared and with a rip about one and a half inches long on the dresser in her room this morning.

It was brought out at the inquest that the maid had taken the purse from the car with her when she returned after returning from the roadhouse.

The inquest failed to bring out any testimony that McDonald and Mrs. Quilter had quarreled before the woman fell from the car.

McDonald, in reply to a question, said: "I do not remember if I struck her. I don't strike anyone if I can help it. I was just too intoxicated to remember what happened."

"You gave her liquor knowing the effect it would have upon her?" Attorney W. D. Matthews, of Southern Pines, representing the Quilter family, asked.

"I didn't give her whisky. She bought it herself. I didn't know she was going to buy any until we got to that house."

McDonald, tall, slender and sallow-faced, said he was a tailor by profession. He had been working at Montesanti's Tailor Shop here. He rented a room at the home here leased by Mrs. Quilter for the season.

Powerful Whisky.
"I had supper with Mrs. Quilter and the children last night," he said, "and afterward I went with Mrs. Quilter to a house on the road between Aberdeen and Pinehurst where Mrs. Quilter bought two jars of whisky. We then returned home and had some drinks."

"About 11 p. m. we decided to go out and get something to eat and took the car with us. She sat on the back seat. While we were at the roadhouse Mrs. Quilter decided she wanted a drink. I told her she had had enough, but she went out to the car and got a jar, anyway."

"I don't know what time we left, but when we started out, Mrs. Quilter was sitting beside me on the front seat."

Weeping freely, Mrs. Greiner, the maid, testified: "When Mrs. Quilter brought in the whisky from the car out there, I took a drink and felt sick. I went out to the car and lay down on the back seat and was out like a light."

"Did Mrs. Quilter and McDonald quarrel in the roadhouse?" Acting Coroner Hugh Kelly asked.

"No, not that I heard while I was in there."

Jim Byrd, who was at the roadhouse, said he heard McDonald and Mrs. Quilter talking but they did not seem to be angry.

Saw Her Fall.
"I saw them get in the car," he said, "and when he drove away and shifted into second gear I saw her fall out. I picked her up and put her on the porch. She was unconscious then and we called an ambulance to take her to the hospital."

McDonald, he said, did not change his speed after the woman fell out.

Several other witnesses corroborated his testimony.

Dr. W. C. Mudgett said he had treated Mrs. Quilter once or twice at his office, but declined to discuss the nature of her illness.

"She was taking no medicine that contained narcotics and was not subject to fainting spells, so far as I know," he said.

Mrs. Quilter's maid had told the jury Mrs. Quilter had not been well for some time, coming to Southern Pines and had been under treatment by a physician here.

McDonald said he had once been called by a maid and had to pull Mrs. Quilter back from a window to keep her from jumping out.

"Twice before," he said, "she had tried to jump out of the car and I stopped her."

The inquest was held on the lawn of the community house here.

Arrangements for Mrs. Quilter's funeral were being made tonight pending the arrival of her husband. The Quilter children, Bernice and Phyllis, aged 3, were staying with their mother here.

RICHBERG NAMED NRA BOARD HEAD; 2 MEMBERS ADDED

ocratic leaders to keep many followers in line.

The American Federation of Labor, through President William Green, John L. Lewis and other leaders who conferred at the White House at length today, provided some outward evidence of an understanding in the selection of Murray as a member of the new NRA board.

He is a vice president of the United Mine Workers and his selection gives labor two members on the board, since Sidney Hillman, who told the senate the NRA would be a labor union, would ensue if NRA were not continued, is a labor representative.

There was speculation too as to whether administration support might not now be given the Wagner labor disputes bill, ardently supported by Green and his followers.

They claim that the bill, which sets up an independent labor board, would outlaw company-dominated unions, is necessary to carry out the collective bargaining guarantees in the recovery act.

Besides Richberg, Withrow and Murphy, there will be Walton Hamilton and Leon Marshall, college professors, remaining on the board. Whiteside will not remain in the NRA, and another industrial member is to be appointed to take Williams' place, bringing the membership to seven.

Leon Henderson, at present an off-duty economic member, and Blackwell Smith, ex-officio member and acting counsel of NRA, will no longer have official board capacity, although they were expected to remain with NRA.

A White House statement announcing the change emphasized in full the drive to push the extension of NRA through congress. It said: "The president expects the National Recovery Administration will carry on its present duties vigorously and effectively, with due consideration of all interest involved, while legislation is pending and shall assist in every way possible in the enactment of legislation urgently needed to retain and to advance the industrial recovery program, as embodied in the present law, with the anticipation that by the action of congress the law will be materially improved and strengthened."

A high official, who would not be named but who is important in industrial councils, declared that the president's action would give business leaders have urged the necessity of supporting NRA immediately and to the fullest in order to reassure both labor and industry.

He said that in his opinion Senator Borah's onslaught had gone so far only because of the surprise element. He said he believed that on "sober thought" and after a better understanding of the business and labor viewpoint the reaction would be different.

The new flexibility between the White House and the American Federation commented it was "generally" favored by the committee.

Flynn promised to put in the hands of the committee not later than Tuesday completely drafted legislation incorporating his idea that the nation should "pay as it fights" instead of having a due bill for future generations.

He declared stripping recipients of large salaries of all but $10,000 in time of war "might be serious to a man used to a large retinue of servants" but it would not affect "the broad design of the war."

"The army of servants" would be absorbed into wartime industry, he said.

Lauded by Vandenberg.
Lauding the economist's suggestions, Senator Vandenberg said: "It is proposed to strike at the economic heart of the war problem by the simple, fundamental device of requiring that no future war shall be fought on borrowed money, but shall be paid for substantially by current taxes."

"It is the process of making war on borrowed money which primarily constitutes the economic situation out of which grows first, the opportunity for swollen profits; second, the economic dislocation of the war era, and third, the post-war calamity of deflation."

"I subscribe to every syllable of that," Flynn responded.

The committee has virtually completed the preliminary stage of its investigation. It plans only to question Bernard M. Baruch briefly next Tuesday before submitting its legislative plan to congress.

Baby Born With Tooth.
CLEVELAND.—(UP)—Little Lucile Shirley Crenshaw had one upper tooth when she was born February 21 and has two lowers about to emerge now.

of Labor meanwhile was demonstrated in a tempestuous session of the senate committee, protesting that on the recovery act. Major labor leaders have been fighting vigorously in defense of the NRA that they have criticized most bitterly in the past.

Hillman, in two hours of testimony before the committee today injected an impassioned plea for NRA in between efforts of committee members to emphasize his Russian birth and contacts.

A friendly crowd applauded so vigorously when Senator Costigan, democrat, Colorado, protested that Hillman was not on trial, that police were directed to maintain order.

The bespectacled Hillman strongly challenged the committee's charge that he had hurt the small man and not helped labor.

He had hardly taken the stand when Senator King, democrat, Utah, asked if he had not written a certain provision of the clothing union constitution "after you came from Russia."

"Of course," Hillman responded, "I was born in Russia."

A moment later King and Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, probed Hillman's record in the past, asking questions directly. Then Senator Costigan interrupted with the remark that drew the applause from the crowd. He said:

SCHOOL REFORMS TO APRIL SESSION

Board Will Name Committee on Proposal at Regular Meeting.

Initiation of the projected reforms in operation and administration of the Atlanta school system will await the next regular meeting of the Atlanta board of education, April 9, it was decided Thursday night at a conference of newly-appointed chairmen of the various board committees held at the office of Ernest J. Brewer, president.

When the next board meeting is convened, appointment of a special committee to "recommend a constructive and progressive program" will be voted, Brewer announced, after the meeting of committee heads.

"Politics and personalities will not be considered in our recommendations," the board president announced. "What we want to do is to raise the standard of education in Atlanta, to establish public confidence in the board and to launch a constructive and progressive program for the educational system."

It is not our desire to pay off anyone's political debts or promises and we refuse to become parties to any such proposition. Any action we taken will be strictly in the interest of the school system and will be for the purpose of better conditions in the system.

It is anticipated that the tentative program outlined at a secret meeting of committee heads Monday night will be adhered to in the main.

It provided among other things for the divorce of the business department, headed by Thomas C. Clift, from the control of Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools; for what was termed "emancipation of teachers" by telling them in a communication they leaders but that a bill for immediate cash payment of the bonus would be passed. But considerable dispute remained, nevertheless, over whether a currency expansion or non-expansion method would be approved.

The house exhibited its overwhelming desire to pay the bonus shortly after the Vinson-American Legion bill, which would leave it to the treasury to find the necessary $2,000,000, was presented on the floor by the ways and means committee.

Representative Patman was recognized to offer his bill with the currency expansion stipulation as an amendment. Then there were offered eight other substitute or "compromise" plans. These ranged from bills to give the veterans negotiable bonds to others for cash payment only to needy veterans.

First, the much-talked-of Tydings-Cochran-Andrews bond "compromise" bill was snatched down, 193 to 74. Disagreed, the would-be compromise ceased to ask even standing votes, and their proposals were shouted down as fast as they were offered.

The house became impatient to get at the real nub of the issue—a choice between the Vinson and Patman bills. The members shrouded in laughter, talked and interrupted speakers, urging them to "sit down."

Patmanites Noisy.

In the gallery, leaning over the rail on the front row, sat Frank N. Belgrano Jr., national commander of the American Legion, who has been working for the Vinson bill. On the back row of the same gallery sat James E. Van Zandt, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who would not have to be "political puppet" of any faction or clique to keep their jobs; for establishment of a committee to investigate causes of reform among members of the teaching staff. In addition, it is anticipated that a marked revision of rules will be undertaken.

All committee chairmen, with the exception of Arthur Scott, were present.

Officers of the Student Government Association, Y. W. C. A., and Athletic Association were named Thursday morning in the Agnes Scott chapel, while the staffs of the various college publications will be named this morning in the annual spring elections of Agnes Scott College.

Adelaide Stevens, Forest City, Ark., was elected president of the Student Government Association; Frances James, Atlanta, was elected vice president; Marie Stalker, Atlanta, secretary; and Julia Thing, Asheville, N. C., treasurer.

Rockford, Ill., treasurer. Newly elected officers of the Y. W. C. A. include: Sarah Spencer, Columbia, S. C., president; Ruby Hutton, Asheville, Va., vice president; Barbara Helwig, North Adams, Mass., secretary; and Isabel McCain, Decatur, treasurer.

Compromising for the last two years, and it's reasonable to assume that he would compromise now.

"What the veteran wants is the money and not your vote to a bill that will get nowhere."

Patman replied that if a veteran with a $1,000 face-value adjusted compensation certificate had borrowed $500 against it, under the Cochran plan he would get negotiable bonds now worth only $154.

Advocates of the half dozen or more compromises said they would get a bigger vote tomorrow on a roll call, but even they conceded their bills would not pass.

Here is the way Georgia's representatives voted on substituting the Patman bill for the Vinson bill: For, Brown, Castellow, Deen, Owen, Peterson, Ramspeck, Azar, Tarver, Vinson, Wheelchel. Representative Cox voted "present."

Friday Vote in Doubt.

A roll call was ordered a few minutes later, and as it proceeded, some members worked hard on their colleagues, seeking to win votes to their side. At the conclusion—with Speaker Byrns voting against the Patman bill the Vinson bill was tossed aside, 202 to 191—an 11-vote majority.

Representative Vinson, democrat, Kentucky, apparently pleased over the count, turned to the gallery where Belgrano sat, opened and shut his hand twice, then stuck up one finger to indicate the 11-vote difference. Belgrano grinned back.

But the same fight will have to be fought over tomorrow. Technically today, the house overruled the ways and means committee, which had approved the Vinson bill instead of the Patman bill. Tomorrow a motion will be made to send the Patman bill back to the ways and means committee with instructions that it report the Vinson bill back forthwith.

No one could forecast with assurance tonight what tomorrow's result would be.

The house took its position against compromise despite numerous assertions that the president would veto either the Patman or Vinson bill. There was some talk on the floor about the trip Senator Bulkeley, democrat, Ohio, made to the White House today to suggest a compromise to the president.

"He didn't indicate any change in his attitude," Bulkeley reported, and that word spread through the crowded house in a few minutes.

Representative Cochran, one of the compromise bill authors, said: "Some of us do know what will happen at the White House—the president will veto the Vinson or the Patman bill. The only thing to do is to compromise. The president has been

ATLANTA'S THEATERS

Paramount To Present

'Gay Ruggles of Red Gap'

Starring Charles Laughton, Paramount brings to the screen one of the most delightful comedies of the current season, "Ruggles of Red Gap," which opens at the Paramount theater today. The picture is taken from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson and is a side-splitting story of Ruggles, the gentleman from London, who suddenly discovers himself a "ladies' man" in Red Gap. To support Laughton Hollywood has selected some of its foremost comedians, including Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Zasu Pitts and Leila Hyams.

The picture opens in London on the gay and gaudy days of the 1900s, when Laughton passes from his master into the hands of Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland, American tourists, as part of the stakes of a poker game. Brought to the United States, Laughton is introduced to Ruggles' friends as a colonel and soon becomes the lion of Red Gap society.

Laughton, round, jovial and plump, is said to render an inspiring performance in the comic role of this favorite of all butlers, and the balance of the cast make high class comedy of the incredibly comic

For Charles Laughton, universally recognized as one of the greatest actors of the stage and screen, comedy characterizations have been few, as the majority of his pictures have given him more sinister and villainous parts. In "Ruggles of Red Gap," he proves beyond any shadow of doubt his ability and versatility as an actor of all types of roles.

Kay Francis Plays Lead

In Gripping Fox Drama

"Living on Velvet," which is heralded as a powerful drama with a most unusual romance, is scheduled to open at the Fox theater beginning today.

It has an all-star cast headed by Kay Francis, who has two leading men in Warren William and George Brent. The story is that of two men in love with the same girl, each of whom tries to give her up for the other man.

Brent, portraying a dashing daredevil whose mental attitude toward life has been warped by a terrific airplane accident in which his parents and his sister were all killed and he was left as a "dead man" and rushes from one mad escapade to another.

He is always saved from the consequences of his rash acts by his friend, a part played by Warren William.

When Brent falls in love with the woman his friend is hoping to marry, he rushes away, but Kay Francis, who plays the role of the girl, is infatuated with the aviator and sends the one friend she can always depend upon, Warren William, to find the irresponsible young man and marry him in spite of the opposition of her family.

Follows a series of trying experiences at domesticity, for which the man is utterly unfitted, and in which he nearly wrecks the girl's life. Then in a mad moment he almost smashes his own life in a thrilling situation said to be one of the most dynamic climaxes of any picture ever screened.

'Roberta' To Georgia

For Another Week

"Roberta," the musical hit, featuring Irene Dunne, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, with hundreds of beautiful girls, moves from the Paramount to the Georgia theater today for a second week's run.

Songs and dances to suit every mood are presented in "Roberta," a de luxe production of the Jerome Kern musical hit.

One of the outstanding features of the colorful production is the spice and variety in the musical numbers. In the picture, the heart with tender romance. Another sets the feet to tingling and the pulse to pounding. Supporting the three stars are Randolph Scott, Helen Westley, Victor Varconi, Claire Dodd, Luis Alebrin, Ferdinand Munier and others.

On the stage are the "Four Bars of Harmony," with an entirely new repertoire of songs, including many request numbers. The latest Pathe news flashes on the screen complete a well-rounded program.

Mrs. Asa Candler's Organ Music Rivals Melodies of Songbirds

By Sally Forth.

DURING these glorious spring days song birds find a rival in the melodious organ notes floating from the windows of stately Briarcliff Manor. It is the harmonious musical expression of thought and feeling from the fingers of Mrs. Asa Candler Jr., playing upon the magnificent organ, one of the largest privately owned in the United States. She spends several hours daily practicing upon the aeolian. Under the instruction of Dr. Charles Sheldon for the last three years, Mrs. Candler has become well versed in classical organ selections and literature.

When the talented organist plays over the radio, the program issues direct from the handsome living room of the Candler mansion on Briarcliff road. She has brought joy and pleasure to the thousands "listening in" upon these occasions. Mrs. Candler finds the springtime very appropriate for the expression of the beauty of life through the medium of the organ. Her friends count it a real privilege to be included in groups invited upon rare occasions to her play upon the priceless musical instrument installed in her music room.

WHAT could be pleasanter than to flit from a home in Pennsylvania, to a home in Winter Haven, Fla., to New York to sail on a Mediterranean cruise, and to Atlanta to visit Mrs. Edward Worcester Jr. at her Peachtree road residence? That is the sort of program that Mathilde Mizener followed. She spent several months in Florida, sailed on the European trip in January, and reached Atlanta several days ago. To prosaic stay-at-home folk this sounds like a delightful existence. Mathilde is an attractive Spanish blonde. She has brown eyes and curly golden hair. She is a gifted musician, plays the piano exceedingly well, and is an accomplished equestrienne. Her graduation from Principia school in St. Louis took place in the class with Mrs. John Morrison Jr., the former Marchessa Worcester, only daughter of Mathilde's hostess. Mathilde finished her education at Rollins College in Winter Haven. This is her second visit to Mrs. Worcester, and her presence here is providing the inspiration for informal parties.

HE PLAYED on the scrub football team of Georgia Tech last Saturday. Jimmy Moore's touchdown and goal kicking won the game against the varsity squad. His gleeful no bounds. His Chi Chi friends dubbed him Dixie Howell, the second. Several masculine friends connived with a feminine admirer that she impersonate Sally Forth, of The Constitution, and ask for an interview over the telephone. Jimmy was exceedingly modest concerning his football prowess, disclaiming any praise for his effort. He vowed he was lucky and just happened to make the victorious play. The lady Edith Stallings Celebrates Birthday.

Mrs. Marion W. Stallings entertained Monday at her home, 1411 South Gordon street, S. W., for her little daughter, Edith, who celebrated her eleventh birthday. Gracing the center of the table was a beautiful birthday cake. Mrs. Stallings was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Evelyn Stallings. Many interesting games were enjoyed. The guests were Sarah Banks, Mary Chambers, Jean Ables, Anne Atkinson, Dorothy Phillips, Sara Lane, Frances Banks, Martha Grogan, Tom Oswald, Olin Nickelson, Lester Chambers, Bill Maghee, Macie Lassiter, Marguerite Cole, Edna Ann Jones, Juanita Russell, Bettie West, Norma West, Grace Keisler, Cille Cannon, Billie Thomason, Bobbie Hill.

playing the role of Sally decided to turn the questions into more personal channels. "What is your favorite color, Jimmy?" said the bogus Sally. "Blue," replied Jimmy. "Does that go for eyes as well?" said the questioner. "Well, she has blue eyes," Jimmy stammered. "Do you like tall, short, fat or thin girls?" said Sally. "It's personality that counts with me," said he.

When Jimmy went to school next day he confided his experience with friends who knew all about the interview. He told them to look in the Sally Forth column next day, and they could read a swell story about him. He told them the smoothest newspaper woman called him over the phone to get the interview. "Why didn't you make a date with Sally, if you thought her so wonderful?" said a colleague. The story only reached real Sally's ears yesterday. Here is the interview, Jimmy. Be a good sport and see to it that the date with Sally materializes.

Illustrious Poets Are Honor Guests At Atlanta Writers' Club Dinner

Possibly the most brilliant program presented under the auspices of the Atlanta Writers' Club featured Leonard Owsley Herman, of Philadelphia, well-known poet, and Harold Vinal, of New York, distinguished writer of poetry, and editor of Voices. The dinner meeting was held Thursday evening in the banquet hall of the Atlanta Woman's Club, and the tables were decorated with jonquils and silver candelabra held white tapered. Place cards, hand-painted in flowers and scenes of Atlanta, marked the guests' places. Palms and ferns beautified the corners of the hall and formed a background for the pedestal baskets filled with yellow snapdragons and jonquils.

Mrs. Herman read selections from her book entitled "Rather Personal," from the following sections: "Earth Love," "Metropolis," "Froth," "Of Sadness," "Loved or Lover" and "Viewpoint." She dramatized her readings in a clever and exceedingly entertaining manner, which captured the fancy of her enraptured listeners. Mrs. Herman, an attractive and beautiful woman, was garbed in white satin worn with a white fox cape. Her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

Mr. Vinal is a renowned poet as well as a splendid magazine editor. He delighted his audience with the reading of favorite selections from "White April," "Voyage," "Nor Youth Nor Age," and "Hymn to Chaos," the four books of poems in which Mr. Vinal has displayed his creative power of artistic construction.

Mrs. Bonita Grove, music chairman of the club, arranged a group of original songs sung by Ray Nixon, professor at Emory and baritone soloist at the Dixie Hills Baptist church. Included on this program was "Ephraim's Prayer," by Dr. W. F. Melton, president of the club; "Legacy," by Clara Paxson Stewart; "Where Love Walks," by Laura Boyd Shallenberger, and "Hills of Home," by Mrs. Andrew Calhoun. Lyrics to the songs were written by members of the Writers' Club, and the music, with the exception of Mrs. Calhoun's song, by Mrs. Grove.

Dr. W. F. Melton, president of the Writers' Club, presided at the enjoyable dinner meeting and Kathleen Sutton, a poet from Anniston, Ala., came to Atlanta to attend the auspicious event and to meet the honor guests, Mrs. Herman and Mr. Vinal, who made a splendid impression upon their audience.

Durham Due To See Much Service in Cracker Night Games

Crackers Watch Campbell Run - - Bluebird Roars Down Beach - - Ace's Greatest Admirers Look On

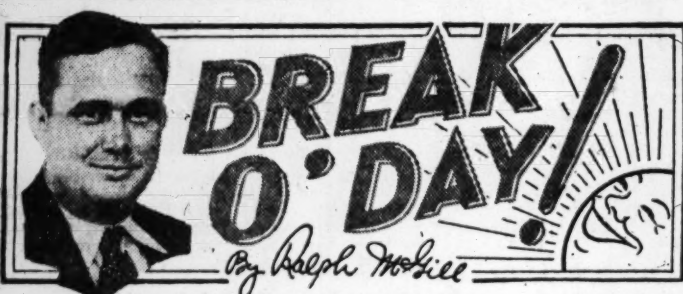

Sir Malcolm Campbell, the world's fastest automobile racer, made his last run over the sands of Daytona Beach Wednesday and George Cornett, one of The Constitution's ace photographers, was "Johnny on the Spot" and made the

Campbell as he brought his Bluebird roaring across the finish line. A plane carrying moving picture cameramen can be seen just above the racer. This is one of the best pictures ever made of Campbell's speed trials by a photographer on the ground. On the right, Lady Campbell and Jean, their daughter, are shown. They were waiting near the end of the course for their hero. He waved and they knew all was well. These are exclusive Constitution photos.

With a Little Luck Dixie Howell Will Stick With Tigers

Dixie Howell was sprawled out on the cushions of a drawing room seat. Outside the plains of Texas were crawling past, growing purple in a twilight.

"If my luck holds I'll make the grade in professional baseball. If it doesn't I won't," he said, answering a question. "You believe in luck?"

"Absolutely," he said, a bit startled. "Don't you?" I nodded an affirmative nod.

"I can feel it," he said. "I've been lucky all my life. I can feel it when I step up there at the plate. I know whether I am going to hit or not. I won't worry about major league pitching. Maybe I can hit it. Maybe I can't. I'll learn all I can about it but if I'm not lucky it won't help any. You've got to have luck in sport, maybe in anything else. I don't know."

"How about getting hurt?" I asked. "In that Stanford football game the other day you were thrown for a 10-yard loss on the first play in which Alabama had the ball. What if you'd been hurt? What if you'd been hurt when you spun into the line on that first touchdown? Stanford likely would have won."

"I never thought about it. I felt good before the game. I tell you I felt I wouldn't be hurt, that everything I did would be all right. So I didn't worry. I just went ahead because I knew nothing would hurt me. I was too lucky."

Most every athlete in the world, all of them who have any imagination at all, have that peculiar psychic quality. But I was trying to probe into it.

"How do you feel when you feel lucky?" I asked. "You just feel all right. You know you are going to do what you want to do. I've taken two strikes and still felt sure I'd nail the ball the next time. I didn't worry when Stanford had us down early in the game. I knew we'd get going."

Well, they did. They got going well.

And now Dixie Howell is at the Detroit baseball camp at Lakeland, Fla. He's been pulled in from the outfield to the infield. Mickey Cochrane has him playing third base. He's been good and had there, making startling stops and now and then throwing a forward pass over the grandstand while the runner goes on to third.

He was scheduled to go to Beaumont, the Tiger "farm." Now they are keeping him around, saying he looks good enough to be considered for one of the utility infield positions. He may land at Beaumont yet. But meanwhile he is sticking around.

It is his speed which makes him so impressive. (In the football combination Don Hutson could outrun Howell on any sprint.) They are saying he is the fastest man on the Tiger squad.

His luck seems to be holding. The only bad psychological angle to the whole thing is this—once he feels his luck has run out he won't have the skill, the fine edge which makes him a superb competitive athlete.

Frank Thomas used this belief in luck. Lots of times, when Howell would appear worried, Thomas would tell him, "Don't worry. You are too lucky to fail in this one."

Howell believes blindly in his hunches and his inspirations. They are some voice speaking to him. He believes they don't always continue, that they "run out." But he feels that his will go along for a great many years.

Meanwhile, the story runs on—from the Rose Bowl to the Tiger camp and already considered for a permanent position with a major league squad.

USING HIS TALENTS. Howell, whose bid for baseball fame is one of the interesting events of spring, had a curious and honest slant at college. He studied. He made fair grades. But his interest was in athletics.

"I worked harder at them than anything else," he said, "because I would have been foolish not to. Had I been talented in mathematics or chemistry or in English or any science, I would have been bearing down at that. But I did athletics better than anything else. So I worked at that. If I can cash in as others have done I'd be wrong."

"A fellow has only so many talents. He should make use of them."

CAMPBELL, CAR SAIL MARCH 30

Beach Conditions Block Dash for New Record.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell decided today to abandon further attempts here this year to break his own automobile speed record of 276.816 miles an hour. He ordered Bluebird crated and will leave as soon as possible for England.

The 50-year-old Britisher made his final inspection of the beach shortly after noon and shook his head. "It's no use," he said. "We're finished here for this year. The beach is in no shape for speed runs. There's nothing left to do but pack up and go home."

It will take two or three days to crate Bluebird, and then she will be shipped north by freight to be placed aboard the Boregaria, sailing for England March 30. Campbell will sail on the same boat.

Campbell said he could make no plans for future speed attempts, either here on the Salt Lake beds of Utah, until the car has been overhauled in England and he has had a chance to consult there with his advisers. He said he didn't give up speed racing, though, until he reaches 300 miles an hour.

"I'm very much disappointed," he said, "but you can't fight nature." I don't know what comes next for Bluebird and me. If we had made 300 this time, we both would have retired, but now, I don't know."

The giant America X was unloaded from a flat-car and towed by Wood to Hick dock on Indian creek, where new super-charges will be installed. Wood is expected to make a record attempt within the next three weeks.

AUBURN, Ala., March 21.—(AP)—A petition to allow Alabama Polytechnic Institute's 1935 polo team to make a trip for one week the first of May in order to arrange games with other institutions has been approved by the executive council. Captain Tom Gunter, coach of the Auburn poloists, had high hopes of arranging two-game series each with Missouri, Ohio State and Chicago on the journey in May.

Howell Declines Movie Offer

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 21.—(AP)—Dixie Howell, famous University of Alabama football player, has definitely turned down an offer to be a movie star.

Howell wired that he is committed to playing baseball this summer," said Henry Macrae, supervisor of serials at Universal studio.

"He declined the offer to play the lead in a forthcoming picture."

Babe Bats 1.000 at Gate But Only .250 at Plate

Braves Will Be "Off the Nut" After Their Swing Around "Grapefruit League."

By Allan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is only hitting around .250 so far against the assorted pitching of the "grapefruit circuit," but the elderly Bambino is batting 1.000 at the box office.

The direct consequence is that the Boston Braves, in Broadway's parlance, will be "off the nut" for their spring training trip for the first time in the club's history.

Major league clubs count themselves extremely fortunate if they come close to breaking even on the cost of their pre-season activities. Most of them drop at least $10,000 on the conditioning process. The Braves, however, who need financial help no more than a drowning man needs a lifeline, will return to Boston with a substantial profit to show for their first Ruth-inspired tour of the southland.

Ruth has been the magnet for an aggregate of 20,000 paid admissions, with total receipts figured around $12,000 and the Braves "cut" at $8,500. Cunningham figures Ruth will help swell the total attendance for the whole exhibition route to 150,000. This may be conservative.

The club has single games scheduled in Washington, D. C., and Newark, N. J., April 7 and 8, and then three games with the rival Red Sox in Boston on April 12, 13 and 14. On the way north, an additional stopover has been arranged at Fayetteville, N. C., where the Babe will pitch the south with the Baltimore Orioles.

The spring payoff probably will be sufficient to cover most if not all of Ruth's $25,000 salary as well as pay the club's entire training expenses. The Babe has a personal "cut" in the exhibition profits in addition to the percentage he will get as second vice president and assistant manager—during the regular season. Altogether it may prove one of the most successful financial ventures in the sport's long career, depending upon how much he stimulates popular interest by his activities on the field.

BABE WILL "DRAW."

The crowd's conviction that Ruth will "draw" as long as he can take his place in the regular lineup. It is also evident that the Babe is determined on a hitting comeback which may mean a fresh crop of home runs. He is conditioning himself slowly but already getting his eye on the ball and giving it some long rides.

The two towering drives he hit yesterday off Dixie Dean and Wild Bill Hallahan, although both landed inside Water Front park near the fence, would have been circuit clouts in most major league fields.

The crowd of 6,500 that saw Dean hold Ruth hitless was the biggest that ever seen a major league exhibition game in Florida. It was the second record-breaker within five days at the Braves' grounds. More than 4,700 watched the first game of the series when the Yankees beat Saturday. Record crowds also have turned out at Bradenton and Lakeland, the camps of the Cardinals and Tigers.

Athletic Field Opened At Atlanta University

The Atlanta University athletic field was formally opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of more than 2,000 persons. The field, which is the most recent development in the building program of Atlanta University, covers a wide area of the university grounds and provides many facilities for physical education. The new track, two tennis courts, a handball court, a jumping pit, two football fields, a baseball diamond, a 220-yard straightaway, and a quarter-mile running track.

Many athletic events took place during the afternoon. The opening games were played on the handball courts, between Clark University and Atlanta University; Gammon Theological Seminary, and the Atlanta School of Social Work; and Morris Brown College and Morehouse College.

Morris Brown College was the winner in the 440-yard walk, in which alumni of all colleges in the city participated. Spelman College was the winner in the 440-yard relay open to the women students.

In the exhibition events, Spelman College students participated in the archery contest.

YOUTH TOUGH UNDER LIGHTS

Manager Moore Says He Has the Stuff To Make Grade.

By Jimmy Jones.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 21.—There's a certain short-armed, sawed-off gentleman in this training camp who is in for a real break this summer and doesn't know it.

His name is Bobby Durham, the squat right-hander from the Piedmont league who reminds the boys of a miniature edition of Harry Kelley in action.

Durham, who otherwise would be only an occasional relief pitcher, will start quite a few of the Cracker's night games this summer. Manager Eddie Moore, of the Cracker, decided today.

"Bobby is a tough little pitcher to hit out there after dark and he's known as a great night ball pitcher up in the Piedmont where he won 22 games last year."

"I'll more than likely use him as a starting pitcher in the night games," declared Mr. Moore.

This is certainly a real break for young Bobby, who looks like a human trench mortar out there on the mound. And it may be a break for the Cracker as well, as Durham is one of the niftiest young pitchers in camp and seems to have everything, including control.

Bobby, who had a trial with the Cracker two years ago, is ready for Southern league ball. Moore thinks, and will be one of the three rookies with which he will start the season. Durham has caused comment from all camp and another of the rookies sure to be carried on the staff, and perhaps use him to advantage against clubs with left-handed hitting power.

TWO SHOUTOUTS.

Martin, who pitched two shutouts for the Cracker last year, is another good-looking pitcher. Both he and Durham are experienced men. They can be used as starters at intervals to give the regulars a rest.

Moore is still undecided about his third B pitcher, but it will lie between Williams and Hays. Bill Schmidt of course still rates Class B, but only in rating, for he is a top-notch starter and one of the "big four."

MOORE PLEASED.

As each day passes down here, Moore becomes more and more convinced that he has a real winner. His infield is pleasing him, also, with young Lipscomb going good at second and Buster Chatham and Harry Taylor performing like new men under Moore's patient guidance. Eddie gets in there with them and plays third and this also helps and zip and zest to the infield practice.

The infield is being pushed along, for the boys have to go out and play Montreal Saturday.

Another development which is pleasing Eddie is the way Sheriff Dave Harris, his cleanup hitter, is getting into condition. The sheriff has swayed off 11 pounds in two days and says he is in better shape than when he started the season with Washington last year.

Oona Improves.

Harris and Oona, Moore thinks, are cinches to hit around .325 and both have been lurching the ball down here.

Moore today turned over Lipscomb, the second-baseman, to Trainer Johnny Shores with instructions to get his leg muscles limbered up. Lipscomb played a lot of basketball during the winter and his legs aren't quite as resilient as they should be.

Eddie has out his pencil and paper now, trying to figure what rookies will be turned over to Fip Koehler for Portmouth when the club returns to Atlanta on March 30 to play the A's. He will seal Pip the best and hunt a spot for the others.

"Pop" Dean, of Norcross, Ga., recommended a young player named Duet Rhodes, who plays in the league down here, to Moore today, but Eddie's roster is full up. He may look at him if he plays in the game at Atlanta Sunday, however.

Berta Sanford and Charlie Schmal-mack won the Power Club mixed doubles duckpin sweepstakes last night with a combined score of 643, 20 plus hits than their nearest contender.

Onice Turner and John Moore finished second with 623; Mrs. Langdon and Glenn Hirsleman tied for third place, having a score of 620. Miss Robertson and H. F. Woodall and Lucy Richardson and A. B. Greene were fifth with 619, and Sarah Sanford and Mr. Langdon in the final money position with 618.

Smokies Asked To Retire French

KNOXVILLE, March 21.—(AP)—Walter French will not play with the Knoxville Smokies this season if R. G. Allen, owner of the club, follows a request made by the veteran outfielder today.

French said he had written Allen, asking to be placed on the voluntary retired list. If granted, French, under the rules, cannot play professional baseball for 60 days.

The outfielder, who joined the Smokies two seasons ago after playing with Little Rock, recently announced as a "hold out," saying the Knoxville club had offered him $50 a month less than he was paid last season.

KANSAS MILER ADDS TO RECORD

HAMILTON, Ont., March 21.—(AP) Glenn Cunningham, the barrel-chested runner, from Kansas, had another record today to tack to his long list and another victory over his perennial rival, Gene Venzke, of Pennsylvania.

Competing in the 91st Highlanders meet last night, Cunningham breezed through to an easy victory over Venzke, his 19th in 20 clashes, and shattered the Canadian indoor mile record by more than a second. He was clocked in 4:16.6.

Les Wade, of Montreal, who set the previous mark of 4:18, finished fourth, some 40 or 50 yards behind the leaders, and well back of Bill Daly, of the University of Detroit.

The Kansas led Venzke set the pace until the bell lap, passed his rival easily, and maintained a four-yard lead to the finish.

Stella Walsh, Polish girl sprinter from Cleveland, shared honors with Cunningham, breaking one Canadian record, winning two sprint events, and barely failing to capture a third, after giving away handicaps.

She took the 40-yard dash in the record time of 5.1 seconds, beat Annette Rogers, of Chicago, in the 60-yard sprint, then lost the 220 to Miss Rogers, who started with a three-yard advantage.

within two years I'll quit and see what else there is to do."

BRYANT

It is easy to understand why the athletes in various sports believe in luck.

BRYANT

They don't. The baseball player hits the ball or he doesn't. He catches it or he drops it.

BRYANT

Some days he does everything as before and makes errors. Often he gets into hitting slumps and goes for days without getting a hit. He is well. His muscles are as good as ever. There is nothing wrong. But he can't hit the ball. He feels it before he goes up there. Nothing can shake it.

BRYANT

And then one day he receives some hunch. He sees some luck sign. Something happens which causes a new surge in his mind. His confidence returns. He goes up and gets his hit. From then on they come regularly until another "slump" arrives.

BRYANT

He doesn't hit with his mind and yet he does. Unless his mental urge is on him, unless he "feels" right he will have a bad day.

BRYANT

There is no way to explain it, no words for it. So the athlete—and most of the rest of us—says it's "luck."

BRYANT

And maybe it is.

Coach W. A. Alexander, whose "Green" team defeated the "Gold" team in the spring football game at Tech, will entertain his winners with a dinner tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

BRYANT

Coaches Bobby Dodd and Mack Tharpe, who coached the favored "Golds," will not be there. They already have eaten—crow. . . Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt's new football coach, was entertained with five dinners by alumni in various cities on his route to Nashville. . . Bill Barr, who used to be one of the better news photographers in Dixie for the Nashville Banner, has a great job with Eastman Kodak which has taken him to Africa, all through South America and to other countries. . . He writes in from Buenos Aires recalling the time we worked together on a mine disaster story, the great fox hunt in Happy Valley when 600 hounds were released, and other stories. . . Harry Toper, the New Jersey man who collected $7,205.40 on a $2 daily double ticket at Tropical park, gave the winning jockey $500.

ATCO PREPARES MINISTERS, WIFE HELD FOR OGLETHORPE IN 'HONOR SAVING'

ATCO PREPARES

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., March 21.—The Atco baseball club is fast breaking in its spring training grind in preparation of meeting the Frank Anson Oglethorpe University team at the Atco park Saturday afternoon.

ATCO PREPARES

Having worked indoors for the past two weeks, Manager Shug Smith, former Georgia Tech star, moved his men out into open air Monday, where they will be engaged all this week with routine fielding and batting practice.

ATCO PREPARES

It is with much enthusiasm that fans in this section look forward to the coming of the Oglethorpe nine. Frank Anderson always brings a bunch of colorful collegiate youngsters with him and to say that his club is generally strong would be putting it mild.

ATCO PREPARES

Most of his lettermen have returned for another successful year and since they beat the Atco boys a year ago the local boys have a real reason for seeking revenge from the same lads.

ATCO PREPARES

Skipper Smith will use a varied lineup against the collegians, mixing his new raw recruits with seasoned veterans to see just what caliber ball playing they will present when they meet the Atco Superstars which engage Bobby Dodd's Yellow Jackets from Georgia Tech here the following Saturday.
